

NAB CARSON MAN IN AIRLINER THREAT

‘Pay $10,000 or I’ll Blow It Up’

By TOM WILLMAN
Staff Writer

A 29-year-old Carson man was arrested Friday by FBI agents investigating a series of telephoned warnings for United Airlines to pay $10,000 "or I'll blow it up."

Wilson Benjamin Clayton, 22027 S. Vermont Ave., was arrested about 4 p.m. at Vermont Avenue and Sepulveda Boulevard in Carson. FBI agents said he was charged on suspicion of making false threats to bomb an aircraft.

United Airlines officials said "three or four" threatening calls were received at intervals Friday morning by different employees working at the company's reservation desk in Los Angeles.

Pat Crowley, the airline's spokeswoman, said that in at least one of the phone warnings the caller stated "he wanted $10,000 or he'd blow it up. No one was sure if he meant a building or an airplane or what."

Special Agent Wesley G. Grapp said Clayton, now unemployed, had recently worked for a Carson mortuary.

Arrested before a federal commissioner shortly after his arrest, Clayton was remanded to custody of the U.S. marshal's office in Los Angeles.

Bail was set at $50,000, on the charge of violating a federal statute which carries a penalty of five years in prison and/or a $5,000 fine.

Last week, Western Airlines officials in Seattle paid $25,000 in cash to a man who told them he had placed a bomb aboard an airliner, rigged to go off when the plane descended to 10,000 feet. No bomb was found.

New State Busing Ban Hit as Racist

By BOB SCHMIDT
From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — The State Senate Friday approved an antibusing measure which an anguished opponent said "puts California right into the heart of Dixie." Another legislator warned that passage could lead to "racial war."

The bill prohibits school districts from busing any student for any purpose without first obtaining the written permission of the student's parent or guardian.

Makeup

Q. I'm interested in becoming a makeup artist for motion pictures and television and would like to know if there are special schools one must attend. I am 21, a senior in college. K. H., Long Beach.

A. There are no special schools for makeup artistry, but if you write to Contract Services Administration Trust Fund, 8480 Beverly Blvd., Hollywood, 90048, they will send you information on the three-year makeup artists' apprenticeship program, which offers on-the-job training in film studios. However, no openings exist in the program at present. Jack Carlson of the Association of Motion Picture and Television Producers Inc., added that these training programs open only when there is a demand for makeup artists and at this time none exists in the slack Hollywood film industry.

The Hole Problem

Q. Our swimming pool is no longer used often enough to justify its maintenance costs. Can a pool be filled in, then re-activated years later? If the pool is permanently filled in, can it be removed from the property tax rolls? K. M., Long Beach.

A. Once a pool has been filled in, it would be extremely costly to remove the fill and re-activate the pool. Eric Larson, construction manager for Anthony Pools, explained that dirt fill would cause extensive damage to the plumbing and plaster. Also, once a pool is installed, a great amount of pressure is exerted on the shell walls by the surrounding earth. The water acts to equalize this pressure and if it is removed and the pool is left empty, you may end up with a "floating pool" where the shell tends to lift and the walls crack. If you decide to fill your pool in with dirt, drainage holes should be cut in the shell. If you permanently fill the pool in, it may be removed from the property tax rolls, according to the County Assessor's office. An appraiser should be asked to come out to inspect the area and officially note the fill-in.

The measure received a 21-12 vote, with 21 votes needed for approval. Introduced by Assemblyman Floyd L. Wakefield, R-South Gate, the bill was passed by the Assembly June 22 49-18 and now goes to Gov. Reagan.

The Republican chief executive is expected to sign it into law.

On June 27, legislative counsel George Murphy, in a written opinion, informed Wakefield that "we do not think Assembly Bill No. 551 ... would be upheld as to constitutionality."

Its questioned legality was one of the arguments advanced by critics of the measure Friday during an emotional, hour-long debate on the Senate floor.

THE DEBATE broke into open rancor once, when Sen. Donald L. Grunsky, R-Watsonville, told Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, that instead of taking up the Senate's time with long speech making for publicity purposes, he should just send a press release to his local newspaper.

Shaking with anger, the white-haired Dills said "that is a dastardly statement by a fellow legislator. I resent it bitterly."

Grunsky apologized, and permitted Dills to continue.

Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, who presented the bill, and Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, denied that the measure either prohibited busing or was racially motivated.

"I resent the insinuation that there is prejudice in a 'yes' vote," Richardson said, "I harbor no prejudice in my heart for any man."

"But I do have a prejudice against force. I hate force, and particularly I hate a government forcing someone to do something he doesn't want to do."

"This bill gives a parent the right to say where his child shall be schooled."

BUT THE bill's opponents insisted that the measure was racially motivated, and cited Wakefield's original version of the bill, which banned bus-

Nixon in Vow to Integrate

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — President Nixon Friday said schools in the South will integrate this fall in "orderly and peaceful fashion."

The President was serenaded by Dixieland jazz and cheered by a crowd of 100,000 along a motorcade to the French Quarter, then met with educational advisory groups from seven southern states to try to smooth school desegregation.

"We are one country, one people and we're going to carry out the law," Nixon said after the 2½-hour meeting. He said if court rulings on integration are not obeyed, "those who suffer most will not be this generation but the next."

THE PRESIDENT, Mrs. Nixon and top White House advisers were given a welcome with a Mardi Gras spirit. Laborers wearing hard hats waved American flags. Some

3rd Angela Gun Bought Shortly Before Killings

A third gun used in the shootout escape attempt from a Marin County courtroom last week was bought in Los Angeles in the name of ousted UCLA professor Angela Davis, it was revealed Friday.

Miss Davis, sought by authorities for questioning, was said to be at the Toronto home of Judith Clavir, a friend of fugitive Panther Eldridge Cleaver, according to the San Francisco Examiner.

State attorney general's investigators have already charged that two other guns used in the shootout near the San Rafael court building were purchased by the 26-year-old Communist instructor.

State Attorney General Thomas Lynch has said he'd like to question Miss Davis.

While no passport is required to visit Canada, records show Miss Davis obtained an American passport in Mexico City July 22, 1969. She reportedly has the passport in her possession and could travel elsewhere from Canada. Cleaver fled to exile in Algeria.

ON FRIDAY, two California newspapers said Miss Davis purchased the third gun, a .30-caliber Plainfield carbine found in the escape van where Superior Judge Harold J. Haley and three of his kidnapers were shot to death.

The Sacramento source said the gun was purchased July 25 in Miss Davis' name at Western Surplus in South Los Angeles. The two other weapons were bought by Miss Davis in January 1968, and April 1969, police said.

The third gun was purchased 13 days before Jon-

See Mass Refusal to Fight

By LOU CANNON
From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Forty young Army combat officers who are en route to Vietnam have written President Nixon expressing their opposition to the Indochina war and urging total withdrawal "at the extreme earliest moment."

The letter, written by officers who recently completed jungle warfare training in Panama and who are scheduled to arrive in Vietnam by mid-August, forecasts that American soldiers "will simply refuse en masse to cooperate" if the war con-times. But the officers declare that they have accepted Vietnam orders and will carry them out.

The unusual document was made public here by Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., who said it illustrated "the tremendous sacrifice we are asking of a relatively few individuals in order to achieve the dubious goal of peace with honor."

"No one wants to be killed on the last day of the war, or during withdrawal from a cause conceded to be lost," said McCloskey, a decorated Marine combat officer of the Korean conflict and one of the leading congressional opponents to the Vietnam war.

THE OFFICERS sent the letter to the President through McCloskey in an attempt to place the document directly in the hands of the President. McCloskey forwarded it to Nixon along with a covering letter in which he praised the officers for displaying "the highest courage and idealism an American can offer his country."

In their letter the officers express "serious reservations" about continuing in a war that America has de-

NEW CHARGES OF CEASE-FIRE BREAK

TEL AVIV — Israeli jets hit Jordanian army positions and guerrilla targets Friday in an action that Jordan charged was the second violation of the cease-fire by Israel within 24 hours.

The Israeli military command gave no details beyond saying the planes hit Jordanian army strongholds which have been assisting Palestinian guerrillas in their attacks against Israeli border settlements.

Israel earlier accused Egypt of continuing to expand its Soviet-supplied anti-aircraft missile network near the Suez Canal in violation of the week-old cease-fire.

WITNESS ARRESTED AS AWOL

Marine Says Linda ‘Poured’ Drug

By MARY NEISWENDER
Staff Writer

A Marine corporal, who claims to have seen the star prosecution witness in the Tate-La Bianca murder case take a drug a few weeks before the killings — something she has vehemently denied — was arrested Friday as he walked from the courtroom.

In a dramatic side action to the trial, Marine Lance Corporal Jon Haydn Marsh interrupted the cross-examination of Linda Kasabian to declare in deposition that he saw the 21-year-old mother of two "pour" a drug into her mouth as she frolicked on the beach near Topanga Canyon in mid-July.

The 23-year-old Marsh, on emergency leave, claimed he was absent without leave from the Marine Corps and was working in the Topanga Canyon area when he became acquainted with Mrs. Kasabian and Susan Atkins, one of the four defendants in the trial.

One of his friends, whom he identified only as "Piccolo," gave Mrs. Kasabian some psilocybin, a drug similar to LSD, and she "poured" it into her mouth," the Marine said.

The youth had been warned by the prosecution and Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Charles Older that his testimony could possibly incriminate him, but he continued to testify.

At one point he refused the prosecution's request for the name of the "friend" who gave Mrs.

Kasabian the psilocybin but later recanted when told all of his testimony would be invalid.

He said he saw Mrs. Kasabian again some days later in a nearby shopping center, "jumping like a jumping jack" and obviously under the influence

14 Yanks Wounded in Booby Trap Rescue

Combined News Services

SAIGON — Fourteen Americans were wounded Friday when Communist troops opened fire on an Army unit trying to rescue four GIs wounded in a booby trap, military spokesmen reported. The fighting involving the incident occurred 330 miles north-northwest of Saigon near Quang Ngai city when four men of the 198th Brigade of the American Division walked into two booby traps. As the unit moved in to evacuate the GIs, the nearby Communist troops opened fire with small arms and rocket-propelled grenades, touching off a four-and-a-half-hour battle. Fourteen Americans were wounded. American B52 bombers meanwhile carried out five more raids over jungles 10 to 12 miles southwest of the South Vietnamese artillery base O'Reilly west of Hue. The base has been under pressure from North Vietnamese for nearly a week.

CHOLERA OUTBREAK

SEOUL — Strict quarantine measures were enforced throughout South Korea today after official confirmation of a cholera outbreak in the southern provinces. Health ministry officials said seven persons had died of the disease and another 118 were stricken.

MARSEILLES — The French liner Mermox is being diverted from a Black Sea cruise because of cholera in the Astrakhan region of the Soviet Union, the French shipping line said Friday. The Mermox, leaving Sunday on a cruise with 600 passengers on board, will make a Mediterranean trip instead.

MOSCOW — Soviet authorities Friday reported publicly for the first time that areas of the south have been quarantined against the spread of cholera. They said the disease is being successfully controlled.

Vatican, Yugoslavia Resume Ties

VATICAN CITY — The Vatican and Yugoslavia announced Friday resumption of full diplomatic ties after a break of 18 years. The Vatican said it hoped the agreement would guarantee "living space" for the church in a Communist state. The first of its kind between the Holy See and a Communist regime calls for the exchange of diplomats on the ambassadorial level. Pope Paul VI and Yugoslav President Tito first agreed informally to exchange envoys in 1966 following an agreement which allowed stricter links between the Vatican and Yugoslav bishops and priests.

Uncover Bomb Cache Bound for Ireland

LONDON — Detectives uncovered a second cache of homemade bombs, believed ready for shipment to Northern Ireland, in a snoop on a London house Friday. The raid was staged as police interrogated eight Irishmen picked up after another stockpile of explosives was found in a southern suburb of the capital. Police were spreading their search to other areas of the city to locate a suspected network of bomb factories operated by the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

SALT Ends on Optimistic Note

VIENNA — With smiles, handshakes and the promise to meet again in Helsinki on Nov. 2 to continue Strategic Arms Limitation Talks, the delegations of the U.S. and the Soviet Union ended their second SALT round here Friday. U.S. Chief Delegate Gerard Smith said at the closing ceremony that "important progress" had been made during the talks and the Soviet Union's Vladimir Semenov described them as "substantial and useful." But nothing of the actual substance of the talks was revealed.

Jailed Uruguay Guerrillas Granted Meeting

MONTEVIDEO — Jailed guerrilla leaders, whose followers kidnaped three foreigners and killed one, were permitted to meet to discuss the fate of the two remaining hostages, police said Friday. They declined to say if the jailhouse meeting had produced any hope that the Tupamaros guerrillas may free a Brazilian diplomat and a U.S. agricultural specialist still being held in demand for the freedom of some 150 political prisoners.

FCC Gives Networks 'Anti-Nixon' Time

WASHINGTON — The Federal Communications Commission ruled Friday that the major television networks must give prime time for presentation of contrasting viewpoints to President Nixon's statements on the war in Southeast Asia. The FCC order also requires CBS to give the Republican Party opportunity to reply to a July 7 television program by Democrats.

The commission said the responses to Nixon would be designed to present views contrasting with those he presented in five televised addresses since last November. The decision was made in response to complaints filed under the Fairness Doctrine by the Committee for Fair Broadcasting of Controversial Issues, 14 U.S. senators, and Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace.

Direct Vote Cleared for Senate Action

WASHINGTON — A constitutional amendment providing for direct popular election of the President, brought to life by George C. Wallace's third-party candidacy two years ago, was cleared Friday for Senate action that could come this fall. It took the Senate Judiciary Committee nearly four months, after its 11-6 approval of the legislation, to come up with a report representing the views of its majority. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has promised action on electoral reform this fall.

All Cyclamates Ordered Off the Market

WASHINGTON — The Food and Drug Administration Friday ordered all diet foods and drinks artificially sweetened with cyclamates off the market by Sept. 1. Completing the partial ban it started in January, the FDA said it acted on new scientific evidence showing that the safe maximum daily amount of cyclamates a person should consume is just one-fifth of what it regarded as safe in its earlier action. That action banned use of cyclamates except for diabetics and obese persons under the care of a doctor.

House Unit OKs No-Knock Drug Bill

WASHINGTON — The House Commerce Committee approved Friday a sweeping narcotics control bill with the controversial no-knock authority for agents and a reduction of penalties for drug possession. It also has rehabilitation and research features, runs generally parallel with proposals by the Nixon administration and carries a price tag of about $460 million. Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., said the bill probably will be brought to the House in September.

Bayh Blasts Nixon on Poverty Program Lag

WASHINGTON — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., charged Friday that President Nixon has allowed a citizen watchdog effort over poverty programs "to fall apart in shabby fashion." Bayh submitted a Senate resolution calling on Nixon to fill all 21 vacancies that now exist on the National Advisory Council on Economic Opportunity. Bayh said the council has not met since the last of its members' terms expired in March 1969. All the initial appointments were made by President Johnson.

High Winds Threaten Florida Coast

MIAMI — A dangerous tropical depression, which could develop quickly into a hurricane, whipped up 60-mile-an-hour winds Friday and threatened to move into the western Bahama Islands and Florida during the weekend. Dr. Robert Simpson, director of the National Hurricane Center, said that if the present trend continues "the depression will pose a genuine threat to the Florida coast as well as to the Western Bahamas."

Nerve Gas Hearing Set for Monday

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Court of Appeals Friday ordered another hearing Monday to determine whether the Army should be halted in its efforts to dump 2,657 tons of lethal nerve gas into the Atlantic ocean off the coast of Florida. The order came upon a petition by conservation forces seeking to override a lower court's refusal earlier in the day to prohibit the disposal of the 418 concrete coffins containing the gas.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

'LBJ Heeded Rusk Over Clifford'

Combined News Services

Lyndon B. Johnson's former press secretary says that it was Secretary of State Dean Rusk — not Defense Secretary Clark Clifford — whose views the President accepted in starting serious Vietnam peace talks through de-escalation. George Christian gives an account which supports Johnson's own suggestions about the fateful decision-making of 1968 and differs from the version of high-ranking Johnson Administration "doves" — including Clifford.

In a book entitled "The President Steps Down," to be published Monday, Christian also says that Johnson preferred Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, as Hubert Humphrey's vice presidential running mate over Humphrey's choice of Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine. Inouye, he said, had supported Johnson solidly. And "putting a Japanese-American war hero on the ticket was a ploy that appealed to Johnson's sense of drama, and good politics," he said.

Muskie, on the other hand, had never been a Johnson intimate, having once joined a liberal revolt against Johnson when the Texan was Senate majority leader. And Christian said one of the "real low spots in Johnson's relationship with the campaign" came when Muskie failed in a television film even to mention Johnson among the Democratic leaders he had known.

POSTPONED

The court-martial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., charged with murdering 102 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai, was postponed indefinitely Friday. The court-martial for Calley, first of 12 officers and men charged in the alleged 1968 massacre, had been scheduled for Aug. 24 at Ft. Benning, Ga. Calley will be in a military court that day, but it will be to ask for disclosure of certain documents and papers dealing with the alleged slaughter. Lt. Col. Reid W. Kennedy, the trial judge, will hear the defense motion.

KENNEDY PLEA

Sen. Edward Kennedy urged Congress Friday to approve a $450-million program to help convert the nation's defense-related research and industry from war to peacetime activity. The Massachusetts Democrat said his proposed Conversion Research, Education and Assistance Act of 1970 would help the country redirect its resources and talent away from military programs and toward "socially productive civilian oriented activities."

'SIREN FIEND'

Mrs. Beatrice Whitnah, 88, who likes to collect stolen air raid shelter signs, said Friday she's all for Michael Courtney, 22, who likes to set off sirens. She said it wasn't true — as Courtney says — that she paid him $25 every time he set off a siren. But if she had the money, she would certainly do so, she said. Mrs. Whitnah is well known in Berkeley where she has collected 140 stolen air raid shelter signs and arranged them in a peace symbol at her home.

It's her form of protesting against the dangers of nuclear war and the "senselessness" of spending money for civil defense, she said. Courtney was arrested and charged with being the "siren fiend" who set off air raid sirens in San Francisco for the last six days. He said he did it as a protest against the danger of "nuclear holocaust" and that Mrs. Whitnah sent him $25 per siren.

"If I had seen his picture and knew he was 22, I would have been tempted to lie and said I did, but I really have never seen him," she said.

JURY TO RULE

The fate of John Norman Collins, 23, accused of first-degree murder in the slaying of a coed schoolmate, was placed in the hands of an Ann Arbor jury Friday. Judge John Conlin told the jurors they must find the former Eastern Michigan University student either innocent or guilty of first-degree murder only. Collins is accused of killing Karen Sue Beineman, an 18-year-old EMU freshman from Grand Rapids, who disappeared July 23, 1969. Her body was found three days later — she had been sexually molested and strangled to death.

NEW FLATTOP

David Eisenhower II will etch his name on a brass plaque today at a keel-laying ceremony for a nuclear-powered aircraft carrier to be named for his famous grandfather, the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower. As David etches his name, the Assembly will be suspended from a 310-ton gantry crane, the nation's largest. When the signature is completed, the crane will roll along its tracks and lower the keel assembly into the shipway where the $510-million flattop will be built over a five year period. Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, the President's widow, will attend the ceremony.

BIG ESTATE

Robert Watt Miller, a San Francisco civic leader and businessman, left an estate valued at $4,365,804, superior court revealed Friday. Miller left to his widow, Elizabeth, the family home, furniture, two automobiles and two boats. The home and furniture were valued at $147,850.

The remainder of the estate was divided equally among four children. Assets included a bank account of $109,346, bonds valued at $150,075 and a folio of stocks.

At the time of his death Feb. 19, the 70-year-old Miller was chairman of the executive committee of Pacific Lighting Corp.

PAIN TO GE

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, who is retiring as administrator of the federal space agency to return to the General Electric Co., was named Friday as a GE vice president and head of its power generation group. Paine had been with GE 19 years before joining the NASA in January 1968 as deputy administrator. His retirement from NASA is effective Sept. 15.

TRIBUTE

The Assembly Friday paid its tribute to Marin County Superior Court Judge Harold Haley, killed last week in an escape attempt by San Quentin convicts. Haley was a "person of total highest dedication," said Assemblyman William Bagley, R-San Rafael. "I'm sure there was no better judge that served our state than Judge Haley," he added.

Census Shows State Up 25.3%, Likely No. 1

Combined News Services

California's population increased 3,979,636 during the 1960s, boosting the number of residents 25.3 per cent to 19.7 million, U.S. Census officials reported Friday.

The state had 19,696,840 residents as of April 1, 1970, compared to 15,717,204 in 1960, the officials said. The preliminary totals were announced following completion of census figures for Los Angeles County.

The increase means California will gain at least four more congressmen for a total of 42 and therefore will cast at least four additional presidential electoral votes in 1972.

LOS ANGELES County's population swelled to 6,970,733 as of the April 1 completion of the census from 6,038,771 in 1960, officials said. They said the city of Los Angeles also grew to 2,782,400 from 2,479,015.

Of the county's population, 5,944,309 persons lived within incorporated cities and 1,026,424 lived in unincorporated areas.

Still to be figured into a final tally are servicemen away from home and tourists traveling out of the state, said Leonard C. Isley, regional director of the Census Bureau.

San Francisco declined in population, from 740,316 in 1960 to 704,209.

EARLIER announced figures showed that Orange County grew faster than any other California county and doubled its population, increasing from 703,925 in 1960 to 1,409,532 in 1970.

California now is apparently the most populous state in the nation, relegating New York State to No. 2 for the first time in more than 100 years.

Although preliminary figures for New York will not be completed for another month, the Census Bureau said it was highly unlikely that it could surpass California's figures.

The estimated 1969 population in New York was 18.3 million, meaning the Empire State would have had to add 1.4 million persons in the last year to maintain its No. 1 spot.

The last time New York was No. 2 was before the Civil War when Massachusetts counted more residents, census officials said.

WHEN THE LAST census was taken a decade ago, California with 15,717,204 persons was the nation's second most populous state, ranking behind New York which had a population of 16,782,304.

New York now has 41 congressmen, the biggest delegation in the House, but it is expected to be reduced to 39 when House seats are reapportioned for the 1972 elections.

Los Angeles remains the nation's third largest city, the same as in the 1960 census. Its 12 per cent population gain during the 1960s is in marked contrast with population losses suffered by a number of other large cities.

Among the nation's five most populous cities the 1970 census computation has been completed for only Los Angeles and Detroit.

Despite a loss of 12 per cent in population, Detroit maintained its position as the nation's fifth most populous city with a population of 1,492,507.

The 1960 census gave New York City a population of 7,781,984, second-ranking Chicago 3,550,404 and fourth-ranking Philadelphia 2,002,512.

SAFE LANDING

Small Fire Forces Return of L.A. Jet

A Western Air Lines jetliner bound for Hawaii turned back to Los Angeles and landed Friday after a fire burned briefly in the left outboard engine.

The Boeing 707, Flight 501, carrying 97 passengers and a crew of eight, landed safely at International Airport. The passengers departed later on another plane.

Capt. Donald de Shazo, the pilot, said a red warning light in the cockpit flashed on a short time after takeoff. He shut down the engine, dumped fuel into the ocean to reduce the weight and landed.

Airline officials said mechanics found soot and other evidences of a fire in the engine. The cause was not determined. Damage was minor. The crew saw no flames or smoke while the plane was in the air.

Phone Operators Ask Pay for 2nd Language

Most of the nearly 1,000 Spanish-speaking operators of Pacific Telephone Co. began Friday to refuse to speak Spanish to customers until they get paid for their lingual ability, a union spokesman said.

An estimated 300,000 Spanish-speaking residents live in the area served by the company.

The operators union says the limited linguist strike seeks payments of at least $5 extra a week for any additional language skill besides English.

George Donnelly, a

phone company assistant vice president, said the operators have always used extra language skills "just to be helpful" and that such ability is not a requirement of employment.

Many operators are continuing to speak in Spanish despite the union, Donnelly said. Dina Beaumont, president of the Federation of Women Telephone Workers of Southern California, said thousands of calls are routed specially to Spanish-speaking operators and this "can be very time-consuming."

Car Crashes, Swimming Accidents Fatal to 4

Four persons have died as result of traffic accidents and swimming pool mishaps in Los Angeles and Orange Counties.

Dead are: —Roy L. Brown, 27, of Boise, Idaho.

—John P. Albers, 3, of 630 N. Maple St., La Brea.

—Christeana Enlow, 21 months, of 8872 Orange-wood Ave., Garden Grove.

—Bonnie J. Kennedy, 21, of 388 West Bay St., Costa Mesa.

Brown died Friday in Harbor General Hospital, six days after he was struck by a catering truck on Ananelm Street near Bayview Avenue, Wilmington.

The Albers toddler died late Thursday night at Children's Hospital of Orange County. Firemen had rescued the tot from a swimming pool near his home July 26.

The Enlow infant died Friday morning in Orange County Medical Center, five days after she was found floating in 13 inches of water in a wading pool behind her home.

Miss Kennedy died Thursday night, four hours after the motorcycle she was riding slammed into a railroad flatcar at the Santa Fe Railroad crossing on Edinger Avenue in Santa Ana.

Jury Backs More Methadone Centers

The Los Angeles County Grand Jury has given a cautious endorsement of state legislation which would allow the expansion of methadone maintenance programs in California, it was announced Friday.

In a letter to all state legislators, jurors said their own in-depth study has revealed that methadone maintenance has been a promising approach in the treatment of some addicts.

They believed the methadone concept should be explored on a strictly controlled basis, they said, because of an ever-increasing problem of narcotics usage in California.

According to the grand jury, during the 1960-69 period, there was a 2,687 per cent increase in juvenile narcotics arrests and adult arrests were up 433 per cent.

of drugs. At both times, he said, she was in the company of Miss Atkins.

As the youth stood by, Mrs. Kasabian again took the stand, admitting she was in the area with Miss Atkins, but denied knowing Marsh or taking the drug.

When the session ended, Marsh walked out of the courtroom and into the arms of two members of the shore patrol who arrested him again for being AWOL. They said he was to have reported at midnight Thursday to San Francisco for return overseas.

EARLIER, Mrs. Kasabian admitted under questioning by Irving Kanarek, attorney for hippie leader Charles Manson, that she has been "getting high" without the use of drugs while she has been in county jail.

"Sometimes I would just sit and meditate and try to still my mind — so I'd be together — so I wouldn't be nervous," she said. "But it was mostly at the beginning of my testimony. I've never been on the witness stand and voiced myself to a lot of people."

Although she appeared nervous when her testimony first began three weeks ago, she appeared composed and relaxed during her testimony Friday — the first day she has testified as a witness and not a defendant.

Admitting she had "worshipped" Manson, the pale-faced young hippie said that she had looked on the cult leader, bearded or clean-shaven, as Jesus Christ until the murders at the home of actress Sharon Tate last Aug. 9.

"CHARLIE never said he was Jesus Christ," she admitted frankly, "but within my own self that was what I was looking for, and that's what I saw in him."

"I finally got a vision in my head of what and who he was when I saw the murders happen."

"I didn't think of Charlie until I looked into Mr. Frykowski's eyes. (Voityek Frykowski, the Polish playboy friend of Miss Tate's husband, Roman Polansky, and one of the five victims at the Tate home).

"The moment I saw Mr. Frykowski, I changed my mind about Charlie," she said.

The next night, she said, it was Manson who "put a sword or gun into his pants" and entered the home of market owner Leno La Bianca.

MANSON'S sword, which she described as a "pirate sword with a 16-inch blade," had always been with him at the Spahn Ranch in Chatsworth where the Manson "family" lived, she said. But, she added, she was not sure whether he had taken the sword with him or a gun she saw in the possession of Clem Tufts, another "family" member.

When Manson entered the home, she said, she had no doubts that the occupants were to be killed, especially when he returned to the car where she waited with five other cult members, and told them he had tied up La Bianca and his wife, Rosemary.

Manson, she said, entered the market owner's Los Feliz area home with a leather thong around his neck. Later that night, she said, she "didn't remember seeing the thong" as they walked hand-in-hand along a beach. Two leather thongs had been used to tie the La Biancas before they were stabbed to death.

The prosecution charges Manson masterminded the killings, but that the other three defendants charged — Miss Atkins, Patricia Krenwinkel and Leslie Van Houten — did the actual killings.

ing without parental permission "for the purposes of integration."

Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, said passage of the bill "will be giving legislative sanction to those people, with venom on their faces, who turned over that school bus in the south earlier this year, the bus with only black children in it."

Sen. Mervyn L. Dymally, D-Los Angeles, the Senate's only Negro, said "you are setting up another racial political battle for November, similar to the battle over Prop. 13 (the anti-Fair Housing initiative which was approved in 1964 but later ruled unconstitutional).

Richardson asked the angry Dymally "Are you saying the author intends to set up a racial war in California?"

Dymally, quietly but without hesitation, answered "yes."

Sen. Nicholas L. Petris, D-Oakland, after first saying that the race question "is the leading moral issue of this century in this country," said "this puts California right into the heart of Dixie."

"THE POLICIES of the rednecks now run this state," he said.

Sen. Lewis F. Sherman of Berkeley was the only Republican who spoke and voted against the bill. He said the measure deprived local governments of a potential course of action to deal with a problem. All alternatives should be available to local entities, he said.

Four Democrats — Hugh M. Burns of Fresno, Randolph Collier of Yreka, Walter Stern of Bakersfield, and Lawrence E. Walsh of Huntington Park — voted for the bill.

Sen. George Deukmejian of Long Beach also voted for the bill. Sen. Joseph M. Kennick, D-Long Beach, did not vote.

TO HONOR PRESIDENT Whittier Makes Bid for Nixon Museum

The city of Whittier where President Nixon grew up and began his political career made a bid Friday to become the site of the Richard Milhous Nixon Library and Museum.

Mayor Keith W. Miller and Whittier College President Frederick M. Binder announced completion of a $28,000 campaign to locate the library-museum complex on a 120-acre hillside site overlooking the Los Angeles basin.

The decision will be made by the Richard M. Nixon Foundation, a nonprofit group composed of friends of the President, who will recommend a site to Nixon.

Chief competitor to Whittier is Irvine, a planned city complex south of Santa Ana. Irvine officials have not announced any details of their campaign, but Binder and Miller said they spent last week on the East Coast promoting Whittier to several members of the Nixon Foundation.

"Whittier is Nixon and Nixon — to a certain extent — is Whittier," Miller said. "Our primary purpose is to honor the President."

Nixon's parents moved to Whittier from neighboring Yorba Linda when he was nine years old. He attended elementary, high school and college in Whittier and was elected assistant city attorney in 1940.

women twirled parasols and held Confederate flags along the 12-mile reception route.

Nixon was so delighted by the welcome in New Orleans he stayed an additional hour and five minutes beyond schedule. He also met with editors and broadcast executives for a private briefing on Administration policies.

The President and the First Lady ate oysters Rockefeller and other gourmet Creole food at the Royal Orleans Hotel, then flew back to Washington.

Nixon, Attorney General John N. Mitchell, Education Secretary Elliott N. Richardson and counselor Robert H. Finch met with southern education officials to outline Administration desegregation policy and listened to local problems.

WE SPOKE frankly of the facts as they existed and there was no bluffing over the problems," Nixon said. "As a result, we're going to find in many districts the transition will be orderly and peaceful."

Groups from Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Georgia, Mississippi and the Carolinas met with the presidential group.

"What we want is quality education and particularly in this first year of transition from a dual to a unitary system," Nixon said. "The children will pay the price of failure of leadership."

"Strong leadership is just not enforcing the law when it is broken. Strong leadership requires preventive action and we are getting magnificent cooperation from these leaders in seven states."

Nixon said the major issue this year is "the survival and improvement of the public school education system." He said he has rejected from the beginning an approach whereby the federal government would "sit back and wait for trouble to start," then restore order.

THE PEOPLE of the North, he said, "Have no right to point the finger at the South and overlook their own situation. The country needs to hear of successes rather than just a few instances of failure."

William J. Dodd, Louisiana education superintendent, snubbed Nixon's trip and stayed in Baton Rouge 60 miles away. He said he never heard of the Louisiana Commission which met with the President.

"Most of the problems have been with us a long time," Dodd said. "Some of them started back when he was vice president and brought troops into Little Rock to start solving them and they weren't solved then."

Joseph Girusso, New Orleans police superintendent, estimated there were 100,000 persons along the motorcade route Nixon took from the airport by way of Canal Street downtown and into the French Quarter, where the meeting took place. Girusso called it "a Mardi Gras type crowd."

THE PEOPLE who greeted the President were so enthusiastic, they stormed his car several times and tore cufflinks from his shirt, causing his sleeves to flutter.

"We in Washington tend to become isolated," Nixon said after the parade. "We tend to spend too much time in Washington. That's why we began this program. We're bringing the White House to the people."

Signs along the route lined from magnolia trees said, "Welcome Our President — May Your Day Be Useful," "Nixon in '72," "Integration Now," and "Welcome Nixon Beneath the Mason-Dixon Line."

Other signs clamored for and against the war. At one point the President's motorcade passed a sign carried by antiwar demonstrators. It read: "No Deals U.S. Get Out Now." Next to it another sign waved which read: "Execute All War Protesters."

Chicago Manhunt in Sniper Shooting of 2 Policemen

CHICAGO (AP) — Police roamed Chicago's South Side Friday hunting snipers who ambushed three policemen in their squad car, critically wounding one.

A second policeman was slightly wounded by shotgun pellets in three hours of sniping that followed the ambush Thursday night. Police said the snipers, believed to be members of street gangs, fired from a number of buildings in the Woodlawn area along East 63rd Street. Police did not fire back, commanders said.

About 20 persons were arrested as more than 300 policemen moved into the area Thursday night and early Friday but none was accused of shooting the policemen. Most were charged with disorderly conduct or resisting arrest.

Police officials speculated the ambush in an alley behind a recently closed hotel may have been part of a street gang plan to draw additional police to the spot where they would be targets for snipers.

Lt. John Hart of the police gang intelligence unit said four of those in custody were arrested shortly before the attack on the police officers as they shattered street lights in the area.

Hart said the four, who were not identified immediately, said that a leader of the Black P. Stone Nation, a coalition of Negro street gangs, had ordered them to break the street lights "so gang members could shoot some policemen." Hart said most of those in custody are believed to be members of the Black P. Stone Nation.

The critically wounded officer was James Alfano Jr., 30, married and the father of two children. Doctors said he already had received more than 70 pints of blood, necessitated by massive internal bleeding.

Black Students Convicted in Kent Trespass

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — Two black student leaders were convicted Friday of trespassing on the Kent State University campus when it was closed in the wake of violence that left four students shot to death.

One of the suspects, Erwind Blount, 20, president of the Black Student Union (BSU), earlier threatened "the sky is the limit if we are found guilty." He made the statement in testimony before a State General Assembly subcommittee investigating violence at Kent State.

Blount and Rudolph Perry, 20, a member of the (BSU), earlier threatened trespassing on the campus June 21. They were arrested in a car parked behind a building that had been firebombed the previous night.

Kent ROTC Phaseout Urged

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A Kent State University commission appointed by Kent President Robert I. White recommended Friday that ROTC be phased out by 1972.

The 52-member Commission to Implement a Commitment to Nonviolence also recommended that ROTC courses for freshmen and sophomores be dropped by the fall of 1971.

OFFICERS

cided it cannot win and that lacks the support of a populace "shocked and outraged" by the continued death of U.S. soldiers and such incidents as the My Lai killings.

"We, too, find the continuation of the war difficult to justify and we are being asked to lead others who are unconvinced into a war in which few of us really believe," the officers wrote.

THIS LEAVES us with nothing but survival . . . as a motivation to perform our missions. But if this is the only thing we have to keep us going, than those who force us into this position — the military, the leadership of the country — are perceived by many soldiers to be almost as much our enemies as the Viet Cong and the NVA (North Vietnamese army).

"There is a great amount of bitterness both towards the military and towards America building up within the military forces."

The officers go on to say that they find it "hard to believe" that the President is unaware of the widespread disaffection in the Army, disaffection they said is becoming increasingly bitter.

"It seems very possible that if the war is allowed to continue much longer, young Americans in the military will simply refuse to cooperate, thus causing a crisis similar to the current difficulties of the draft bureau," the officers wrote. "The day is coming quickly — you must have us out of Vietnam by then."

THE OFFICERS also took issue with a contrast used by the President between student protesters and Vietnam soldiers.

"We want you to know that in many cases these 'protestors and troublemakers' are our younger brothers and friends and girlfriends and wives," the letter continued. "We share many common causes with them. Please get this country out of Vietnam before we, too, become completely disaffected."

Thirty-six of the signers are second lieutenants, two are first lieutenants and two are captains.

"Their life expectancy is not great and they represent the cutting edge of our entire national policy in Southeast Asia," McCloskey said. "Their letter expresses the anguish and patriotism of the very finest Americans this country can produce."

McCloskey made the letter public in an effort to build support for withdrawal of all troops from Vietnam by next May.

He did not release the names of the officers, all of whom signed the letter to the President.

The California congressman said the letter was "gutty and unique" and noted that the officers had exposed themselves to possible punitive action by sending it.

The officers took cognizance of the same possibility in their letter and then concluded:

"Nevertheless, we must take chances to inform you of these feelings within the Army. Since you and the country seem to have decided that Vietnam is not worth the awful price of victory, we plead with you to get the country out of this half-hearted war at the extreme earliest moment."

Is He Honest? Finds, Returns Bag, $100,000

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Oris Trone has got to be an honest man.

Trone, a 21-year-old telephone installer from Los Angeles, spotted an apparently lost bag on a street and found it contained over $100,000 in stocks, bonds and securities.

He took it to police, who notified the owner, Mrs. A. H. Brodkey.

CONVENTION TO BARE PLATFORM

Demos Say Reagan Gave State to 'Special Interests'

By TRACY WOOD

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California Democrats gathered for their state platform convention Friday, charging Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration has turned the state over to special interests.

"Not since the days of 'The Octopus' have so many in California paid so much for the benefit of so few," said a proposed preamble to the Democrats' 1970 campaign platform.

"The Octopus" was a book written by Frank Norris about the control held on California politics at the turn of the century by the Southern Pacific Railroad.

tion is "falling apart at the seams."

"Big business and big utilities are now in the enviable position of regulating themselves, and have used that position to ride roughshod over the citizens of the state," it added.

ROGER BOAS, state Democratic chairman, called the proposed platform a "strong indictment of the Reagan administration."

Other planks were designed to deal with campus violence, improvement of law enforcement, lowering of the crime rate, improvement of elementary and secondary education, and tax reform.

The platform adopted by the convention will serve as the basis for statewide and legislative campaigns for the November general election.

Major speakers scheduled to address the convention were Rep. John V. Tunney, candidate for the U.S. Senate seat held by Republican George Murphy, Assemblyman Jess Unruh, Democratic candidate for governor, and U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston.

Boas told a news conference the Democratic Party must raise its registration to 57 per cent of the total voters to be victorious in November. He said at the time of the June primary election Democratic registration was 54.5 per cent.

BOAS ESTIMATED to reach its goal the party would have to register 1.25 million more Democrats by the Sept. 10 deadline. He said about 600,000 of them actually would vote.

If the massive registration drive succeeds, Democratic voter registration would total about 5.1 million.

Boas said Unruh was using his campaign funds "almost exclusively for registration."

"I think he figures his main strength is in the fact that there are more Democrats than Republicans," said Boas. "He's putting television spots and the rest aside at this point."

The California Commission on Democratic Party Reform will meet in conjunction with the platform convention in the capitol Saturday.

The party reform commission is the state version of a national committee headed by Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota.

The commissions are developing proposals to revise the delegate selection system for the Democratic National Convention.

Boas said the state commission was particularly interested in finding ways to involve more women, young people and members of minority groups in the convention.

Fire Completes Demolition Job

OAKLAND (UPI) — A spectacular four-alarm fire early Friday completed the destruction of a Port of Oakland warehouse which workers had been demolishing.

Firemen battled flames for six hours to protect nearby piers and buildings, but fire officials said there was no estimable loss because of the demolition project.

They said the blaze may have started when a spark from a welder's torch smoldered during the night.

Brush Fire Held

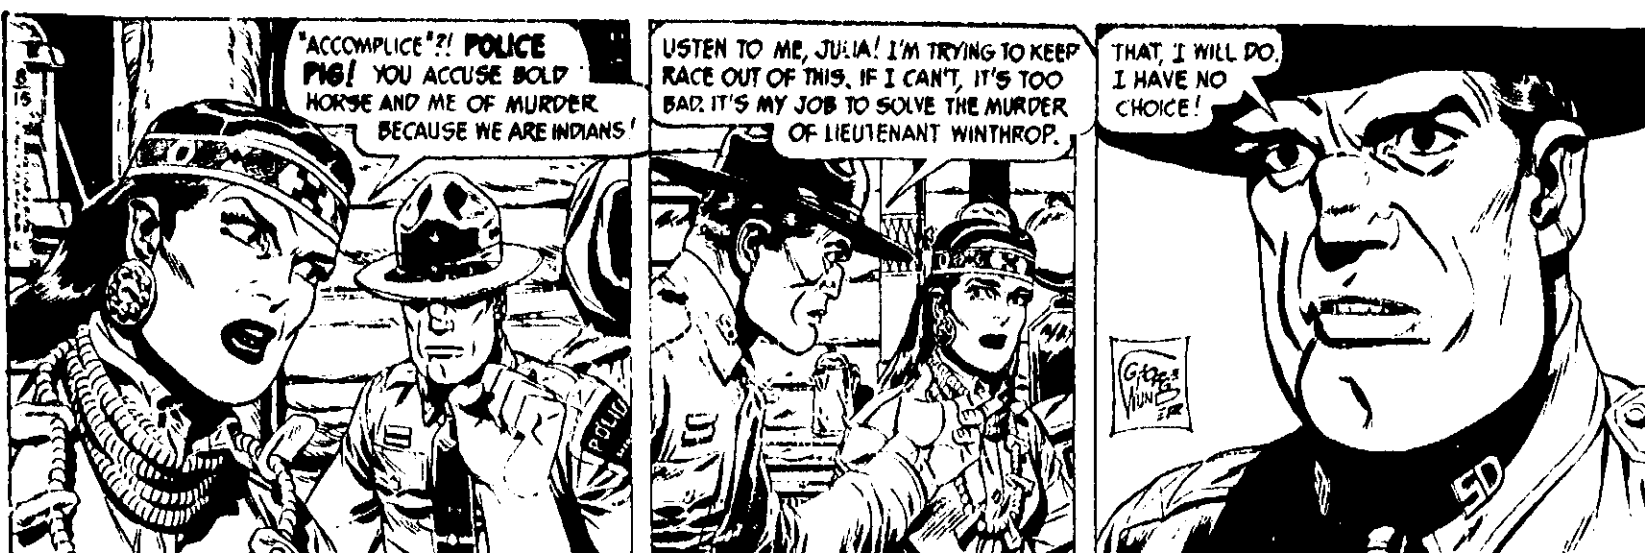

PALMDALE (AP) — A brush fire was contained Friday afternoon by 125 fire fighters after burning 25 acres in the Lake Hughes area of the Angeles National Forest.

Craig Hundley Trio Closes CSLB Concerts in High Style

By PRESTON REESE
Staff Writer

The four kids closing California State College at Long Beach Concerts in the Grove season Thursday looked young enough to have only been on the record buying end of the industry.

Appearances are deceiving though. Craig Hundley, leader of his jazz trio is a 16-year-old who in 1967 grossed over $30,000. He owns apartment houses and has three albums to his credit along with a string of TV, radio and movie appearances that would make Kenton cringe. A virtuoso, he combines the styles of Oscar Peterson, Errol Garner and Dave Brubeck to an almost frightening duplication.

Shoshanna, a local talent, is at seventeen, a veritable Streisand. An overwhelming stage presence as she accompanies herself on guitar in a presentation of international songs and compositions of her own, she more than "set the stage" for the entertainment to follow. She stimulated.

The Craig Hundley Trio included bassist Darryl Clayborn, 18, and Angelo Arvinio also 18, as drummer and vocalist. While competent enough to handle a concert of their own, together, they constitute the perfect jazz combo, technically excellent, incredibly precocious.

Opening with a Hundley composition, "You and

CRAIG HUNDLEY
16-Year-Old Virtuoso

Me," followed by "Traces," from their recent World Pacific release, "Rhapsody In Blue," the group came off quite differently in a live performance from on record. They sounded more relaxed and as a result probably felt more free to explore and expand (which they did) with the absence of metered expression, orchestra dubbing, adults, etc.

Hundley certainly appeared to be enjoying himself. Occasionally casting an elated grin at his keyboard, he seemed as if he were off in his own world. He was the freckle-faced, red-haired kid next door, his fingers animated, overpowered by some divine contact.

Otherworldly music from his rambling, pushing right hand snacked of Errol Garner to a "T" although Hundley insists he's never heard him before and makes no mention of him in his list of jazz heroes which include: Bill Evans, Miles Davis, Oscar Peterson and Stan Kenton, a former instructor.

"Tomorrow," another Hundley composition, introduced vocals moreover, flavored with contemporary form: a new idiom for the group. The song works itself into a cavern, beginning with a simple intro and Hundley's sixteen year-oldish voice. At first it sounded like a "Beach Boys" take off until accompanied by Arvinio's more mature, polished voice which introduced Clayborn, the lyrics were then dropped and Hundley took it from there seemingly carrying the melody to wherever it led him.

An attractive song, it held a well-lyricized message that didn't get in the way of the music: perhaps the answer to man's problems lies in tomorrow, but what if there is no tomorrow, but what if there is.

Each member of the group plays as a separate entity yet a complement at the same time making it possible to attune yourself to one particular sound which is a jazz factor. Hundley's trio does this admirably. The musicians take themselves and their music seriously which is what distinguishes them from other musicians in their age group.

Hundley's trio is most exciting because its music assaults your sensitivity in the way that Ella Fitzgerald does on stage — one can't believe such a fantastic voice coming from such an incongruous look.

'Patton'—a Film Presidents Enjoy

DALLAS (UPI) — President Nixon gave the movie rave reviews. Now former President Lyndon B. Johnson plans to see "Patton."

A spokesman for 20th Century Fox said Friday Johnson will see the movie based on the life of World War II Gen. George S. Patton at a private showing at the LBJ ranch this weekend.

"Mr. Johnson has been trying to view it for some time but we haven't had a print on it," said William Burton of the 20th Century Fox office in Dallas. "They called yesterday and found we had a film to spare."

Nixon announced earlier that he had seen the war movie starring George C. Scott twice and enjoyed it very much. The President said he enjoys relaxing at movies and since has seen several others.

"Chisum" starring John Wayne was one of his favorites.

Burton said Johnson would view "Patton" Saturday or Sunday since the print was needed at a movie theater in Odessa, Tex., for a Monday opening.

"He sees movies on a regular basis," Burton said. "He screens all the big ones."

Some other recent movies Johnson has viewed at his ranch include "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," "Thelma Houston," and "Hello Dolly."

It was not known if Johnson had seen "Chisum" but on May 6 a viewing was held at the ranch of the anti-war film "M-A-S-H."

copied Garner while Hundley copied both but with special attention on Garner. I don't know if Hundley really has found his own style yet but his virtuosity alone puts him on a level with both pianists.

PARABLE OF MAN AND GOD

'J.B.' a Triumph at LBCC

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Drama Critic

Summer repertory theater at Long Beach City College draws to a highly satisfying conclusion this weekend with a strong, poetic revival of "J.B.," Archibald MacLeish's Pulitzer Prize-winning parable of man's relationship to God.

In this mounting, as so often at LBCC, I'm awed by the high-caliber talent available in both featured and supporting roles.

But talent without able direction and stagecraft is meaningless waste. At LBCC, more often than not, there is a fine melding of all the elements to bring forth something surpassing the usual collegiate level.

Shashin Desai's directing and the technical functions — particularly a handsomely moody set — combine to help make this a genuine theatrical experience.

Playwright MacLeish's free-flowing translation into modern terms of the biblical Book of Job stresses an adversary relationship between God and Satan — with Job, or J.B., the prize.

This is a parable, remember, and the two supreme figures are in theo-

Robinson Royce as Zuss displays an Old Testament

"J.B." By Archibald MacLeish Directed by Shashin Desai Designed by Robinson Royce

Cast: Richard Doyle, Robinson Royce, Zuss, Joseph Matarazzo, Sarah, Patricia Keener, And Steve Robin, Lauri Herman, John Hunter, Marcie Herman, Lisa Behr, Candy Cantwell, Don Marcy, Richard Powers, Carla Garland, Cynthia Geller, Virginia Landy, Lani Reynolds, Philip Lyon, Paul Fidler, Steve Lorian, Clyde Bolton, Michael Crawford, Carol Sher, Candice, Robert Owen, Patty Long, Richard Maritz, Vance Frederick, Pat Bedstuber, Sandra Stodley.

Final performances today and Sunday, 8:30 p.m., campus auditorium, Harvey Way near Clark Ave.

quality while sternly he presides over the systematic destruction of J.B. And Richard Doyle neatly evokes the traditional view of Satan as a laughing, cavoring fiend determined to bag yet another soul.

In the storm center is Joseph Matarazzo as the title figure, a quietly determined man who maintains his integrity even as the foundations of his life methodically are stripped away. From a happy, contented businessman early in the play, he is reduced to a wretchedness relieved only by his continuing faith in God.

We watch, figuratively, as his children die, and his wife, Patricia Keener, abandons him. We see him ultimately turn away from three "comforters," organized religion, Marxism, and sterile intellectuality. We are there when the deity relents, returning to J.B. those things which had been his.

And we are left to speculate about J.B.'s future relationship with a God who left unanswered his off-repeated question, "What is my guilt, why are you doing this to me?"

A 3½-star rating, mature young people.

Women's Air Race Underway

SANTA MONICA (AP) — Thirty-six planes took off Friday in a "Palms to Pines" air race for women which was described as a good-will venture on behalf of aviation. The destination is Independence, Ore.

Among co-pilots was Trudy Cooper of Houston, Tex. wife of astronaut Gordon Cooper. Her pilot-companion was Margaret Mead of nearby Manhattan Beach, winner of the recent Powder Puff Derby.

A spokesman said some of the planes were capable of a nonstop trip to the Oregon city, but that many would make every designated fuel stop in order to greet townspeople along the way.

These Bandits Camera-Shy

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The two bandits who held up a drive-in grocery Friday made sure they left no incriminating evidence behind.

As they took $324 from manager John S. Cline, they heard the whirling sound of a surveillance camera.

guess they're going to let us wait."

The iron workers' failure to report for work Friday produced a threat of a court action by Disneyland.

"Our legal department is certain that the iron workers are in violation of their contract by staying out," the spokesman said. "It's just like the situation with the Operating Engineers last Monday."

The spokesman said that the Operating Engineers returned to work Tuesday after Disneyland obtained a court order directing them to report. He said a similar court order would be sought against the Iron Workers.

Park officials said that 58,500 persons attended Thursday, that more than 28,000 had entered the main gate by 1 p.m. Friday and that total attendance for Friday would probably be near the 58,000 mark.

Loretta Young Clips Banned From 'Myra'

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A federal court judge Friday ordered 20th Century Fox to delete film clips of actress Loretta Young from the movie "Myra Breckenridge."

The order was issued by Judge Frank Battisti of U.S. District Court on a suit filed July 31 by attorneys for Miss Young. The suit, which also sought $10 million in damages, said the film depicted sodomy.

One of the film clips, taken from the movie "Alexander Graham Bell," shows Miss Young with actor Don Ameche. Another is taken from a scene the actress played with the late Clark Gable.

The order, contained in a preliminary injunction, said 20th Century Fox would face contempt of court charges if the clips were not deleted from all copies of "Myra Breckenridge."

Judge Battisti indicated the injunction would be made permanent after he ruled on the damage claims. He did not immediately set a date for a hearing on the damages.

Ex-Vegas Boss

Gets Immunity in Skim Probe

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — T. Warner Richardson, a one-time partner in the Silver Slipper casino and former manager of the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas, was granted immunity Friday to testify in a federal grand jury probe of alleged "skimming" of gambling profits.

Richardson, who is retired, now lives in Jackson, Miss.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge A. Andrew Hauk ordered Richardson to testify under the grant of immunity, informing him he could not be prosecuted for anything he might say, except for perjury or contempt of court.

Richardson appeared before the grand jury last week, but refused to testify on grounds of possible self-incrimination, the Attorney General's Office said.

Paris Hotel Raided

PARIS (UPI) — Six masked men raided the luxurious Plaza Athenee Hotel early Friday, breaking windows, throwing smoke bombs and daubing leftist slogans on the walls before escaping in a van. Hotel officials said damage was slight and that none of the guests in the hotel were awakened by the raiders.

'Sinking' Cabin

Cruiser Towed to Safe Harbor

A 43-foot cabin cruiser with four persons aboard was towed safely to Avalon Harbor Friday after the vessel's skipper radioed that he was "sinking rapidly."

The Avalon lifeguard boat Baywatch reached the cabin cruiser Melody at 8 a.m., put pumps aboard and towed it safely to the harbor.

The boat, owned by Leo Pearlston of San Diego, had water up over its engines when it reached the harbor. Cause of the leak was unknown.

Coeds Protest Yale Club's Male Nook

NEW YORK (AP) — Four coeds sat briefly one evening in a "male-only" section of the Yale Club lobby, then left peacefully.

"We are here to make the point that we are Yale undergraduates and we should have the same right here as others," said Elaine Orfanos, class of '71.

Reagan Vetoes Hiring Underage Musicians

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill permitting musicians between 18 and 21 to perform in bars was vetoed Friday by Gov. Ronald Reagan who said their morals might be tainted in places where there was "adult entertainment."

"Unfortunately, there are not sufficient safeguards in the legislation to insure against potential harmful effects on these young people," Reagan said in rejecting the bill by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown, D-San Francisco.

The governor said he recognized that the measure was intended to provide more employment opportunities for teen-aged musicians.

"I am in support of this objective," Reagan said. "I believe that young musicians could perform in the great majority of licensed establishments without being adversely affected."

"However, the bill makes no distinction whatsoever between those establishments in which such young musicians could appropriately perform, and those where nudity, obscenity and other forms of so-called 'adult' entertainment are a principal attraction."

Reagan vetoed the measure by returning it unsigned.

STATE'S SAFEST PLACE IN QUAKE: 'HIGH IN THE SIERRA'

The safest place in California during an earthquake is the Sierra Nevada Mountains, "high up among the unfractured rocks," Dr. Charles F. Richter, one of the world's foremost quake authorities said Friday.

Dr. Richter addressed the Downtown Lions' weekly luncheon in the Lafayette and kept his audience spellbound.

He defended earthquakes up to a point, maintaining wryly it is "not their fault all the way that lives were lost and property damaged."

"About 90 per cent of earthquake life loss and over half the property damage is caused by unsafe buildings," he said. "Long Beach's quake in 1933 was a good example and as a result school construction here was revamped totally."

Dr. Richter is professor emeritus of seismology at Cal Tech, Pasadena, after 30 years' service.

"Long Beach's earthquake was a 5-plus, the 1857 and 1906 (San Francisco) quakes were 8 plus.

"The scale is based on records, ratios and instrumental bases," the scientist said.

He said that in addition to the well-known San Andreas Fault through Southern California the Inglewood-Newport Fault was a factor in the '33 quake in Long Beach.

"An earthquake can be compared to a rolling jelly wave as the earth rearranges itself," he said.

Dr. Richter said, too, that he had doubts over any building over 30 stories high in Southern California.

APCD Chief Hits Reagan Smog Progress Claim

By GILBERT BAILEY
Contributing Editor

Gov. Ronald Reagan's statement that California has "turned the corner" on smog was flatly contradicted Friday by the head of the Los Angeles Air Pollution Control District.

"I don't believe it," said Robert L. Chass, county air pollution control officer, when questioned at a meeting of the County Environmental Quality Control Committee.

"Smog is worse in 1970," he added.

Reagan in his Tuesday press conference in Sacramento said:

"The truth is we are back to about the 1960 level of smog. We have actually improved that much in spite of the increased number of automobiles."

The governor specifically mentioned reductions in hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide levels.

"Hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide are down but emissions of oxides of nitrogen have increased," said Chass. "The governor has only looked at the bright side. We traded a ton of hydrocarbons for a ton and a half of oxides of nitrogen."

Chass noted that the Los Angeles basin had six first stage alerts by the first week in August, a record number for this early in the season. In addition, he said some pollution readings had been higher than in any period since the 1950s.

"The man in the street feels differently from the governor," said Chass. "I believe smog is more widespread."

At the same time Chass argued against expenditures of funds for "needless research projects," including some suggested by the University of California.

"We know the causes of smog. What we need is the money to clean up the problem," Chass said. He spoke as he argued against state legislation which would provide money for environmental projects, but did not specify which projects.

Instead, Chass said, money should be spent on specific medical research to determine what smog does to human beings. He also called for funds to develop programs to test auto emissions and to decide whether such testing should be done privately or by the state.

Smog Called First Committee Priority

Smog should be the first priority of the new Los Angeles County Environmental Quality Control Committee, Mrs. Ellen Stern Harris, a committee member, proposed Friday.

Mrs. Harris pointed out the discrepancy between the record number of smog alerts this year and Gov. Ronald Reagan's statement that California is winning its smog battle.

"IF YOU ASK the average citizen, he would tell you that his first concern is smog," she said.

The newly formed committee is made up of five public members and 16 county department heads.

Its chairman, Judge Herbert V. Walker, commented, "Our first priority must be what the county board of supervisors instructs us to make our first priority."

He added he believed the committee must first set up the machinery to operate before setting priorities.

Committee members will be polled as to their beliefs on priorities. In addition, priorities will be discussed at the meeting of the five-man executive committee the environmental study group.

EARLIER the committee voted its recommendations on pending state legislation. The recommendations will go to the county board of supervisors.

The committee supported bills to establish environmental demonstration programs, to use auto x-ise taxes for environmental programs, to survey state and school lands for environmental purposes and to restrict their use until the survey is completed, and to have state agencies make environmental surveys on such projects as the Newport Upper Bay land swap in Orange County and the California Water Project's peripheral canal in Northern California.

Committee members also voted approval of a coast commission bill, which would establish some controls over the coastline.

5 Counties to Explore Air Pollution Problems

An emergency meeting of officials of five Southern California Counties has been called in Riverside for Wednesday to discuss current smog problems.

The call for the meeting came at the same time a Los Angeles County supervisor blasted other Southern California counties for inaction on smog control.

"It is imperative that we in the basin counties determine a course of action and a manner in which we can impress on the state and federal governments that there is an intolerable situation now," said Galen Kinley, Riverside air pollution control officer in calling the meeting.

Kenneth Hahn, Los Angeles County Supervisor, accused neighboring counties, such as Santa Barbara, of having no air pollution control programs.

Hahn warned that other counties will have worse problems than Los Angeles by 1973 unless something is done.

"Areas like Palm Springs no longer will be healthy places to visit," he said.

The Riverside air pollution control officer said his county is "experiencing the most intense smog we have ever had." Los Angeles County has already had six alerts this year, a record number.

The Riverside meeting will center on means of pressing for legislation requiring improved automotive emission standards and industrial controls.

Lake Forest Offers 'Home Trade Festival'

Homebuyers, like art lovers, are being treated to a big festival.

Announcing their first Southland-wide "Home Trade Festival" at Lake Forest, this week Don McMullen, marketing director of Occidental Petroleum Land and Development Corporation, declared the event marks "a new era in home-trade and buying methods for Southern California homebuyers."

The festival offers an unusual variety of model homes, a special Walker & Lee home trade program and a unique "pick-a-plan" financing program with four different Annual Percentage Rates to fit family needs — "all in one place," McMullen pointed out.

"Like the supermarket principle of serve yourself," he illustrated, "this means easier buying and decision-making with more comprehensive selection. It's a feast of values."

Model homes are shown in the four distinct areas of the master planned community: The Lakes, The Woods, The Gardens, and The Village. Prices range from $31,995 to $50,000, including a deed to the land and membership to the huge, private Beach and Tennis Club. Sailing, fishing, riding and hiking through wooded trails are some of the attractions of the natural environment.

A fundamental part of the festival is the composite of features available at first hand. A key feature, for example, is the direct "hot line" phone system for expediting a home trade possibility. The program is specifically designed for people whose present house is valued at less than $35,000. The "hot line" gives direct contact with a Walker & Lee representative so that he can make a prompt evaluation of the buyer's present house.

Another key innovation is the new "Pick-A-Plan" financing program. This unique program provides an Annual Percentage Rate as low as 6 1/4 per cent, according to the payment plan chosen. The program offers the family a choice of four payment plans together with a choice of down payments, and total monthly payments selections. They are called Programs 35, 20, 10 and 5. As an example, basic essentials of Program 35 are: Cash Price:

$32,495. Down Payment: $11,395. Balance: $21,100. Monthly Payment: $140 per month. Number of Months: 300 months. Closing costs on all plans: $250.00, plus taxes and insurance impounds. All financing programs are available on all Lake Forest homes.

Fifty-six miles from Los Angeles City Hall and 9 miles from the ocean at Laguna, "people regard Lake Forest as one of Orange County's prestigious places to live," says McMullen, "but families who live there, especially children, find it a festival the year long."

Lake Forest sales offices are open every day 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Lake Forest is easy to reach via the San Diego or Santa Ana Freeways to El Toro Road exit.

A GREENWOOD HOME . . . in the Woods of Lake Forest

S&S College Park North Is Executive-Oriented

College Park North, located in Los Alamitos, is an executive-oriented community, built for the family looking for maximum flexibility as the family grows.

The quality construction and materials used at College Park North reveal the high standards of home building which is the trademark for S & S Construction. Building homes to last — S & S prides itself on delivering "old-fashioned" quality. Recently named "Distinguished Builder of the Decade" for the 1960s by the Lath and Plaster Institute — S & S is one of the few major Southern California builders still using Lath and Plaster construction.

Other quality appointments included in the purchase price of every College Park North home are: block wall fencing, cast iron sinks and tubs, top-name appliances and the finest cabinetry available.

Additional luxury features are imported Italian marble entry floors, hand-cut crystal chandeliers, marble and stone fireplaces, wall-to-wall carpeting throughout and custom exteriors featuring heavy wood beams and natural stone.

Many active families today are disappointed when looking for a home because lots in many new home communities are small and inadequate. At College Park North, large wide lots allow for versatile, outdoor living. For the family that takes an interest in outdoor activities, lots are big enough for swimming pools, with room for an outdoor patio. For the 2-car family with boat or camper, side lots are wide and long, allowing plenty of room for storage.

Six floor plans and 20 elevations provide for a wide range of needs and tastes for any family. The split-level, single and two-story homes have three to six bedrooms and up to 2 1/2 baths. Family rooms and recreation rooms for games and hobbies, or more casual entertaining, are offered in many plans. For sunworshippers, sun decks and balconies are available. Or, for a little quiet and solitude the Wesleyan model, for example, offers both a study or den and a bedroom hideaway.

College Park North homes are priced from $38,490. Take the San Diego Freeway to Seal Beach Boulevard turnoff, continue north to Wardlow Rd., and right to Bloomfield.

Southland Builders Listed Among America's Giants

Big builders — with sales volume of $10 million or more annually — are still a rarity in this country, but they do an inordinate percentage of the homebuilding and lead in setting the pattern and influence of the entire building industry says Professional Builder.

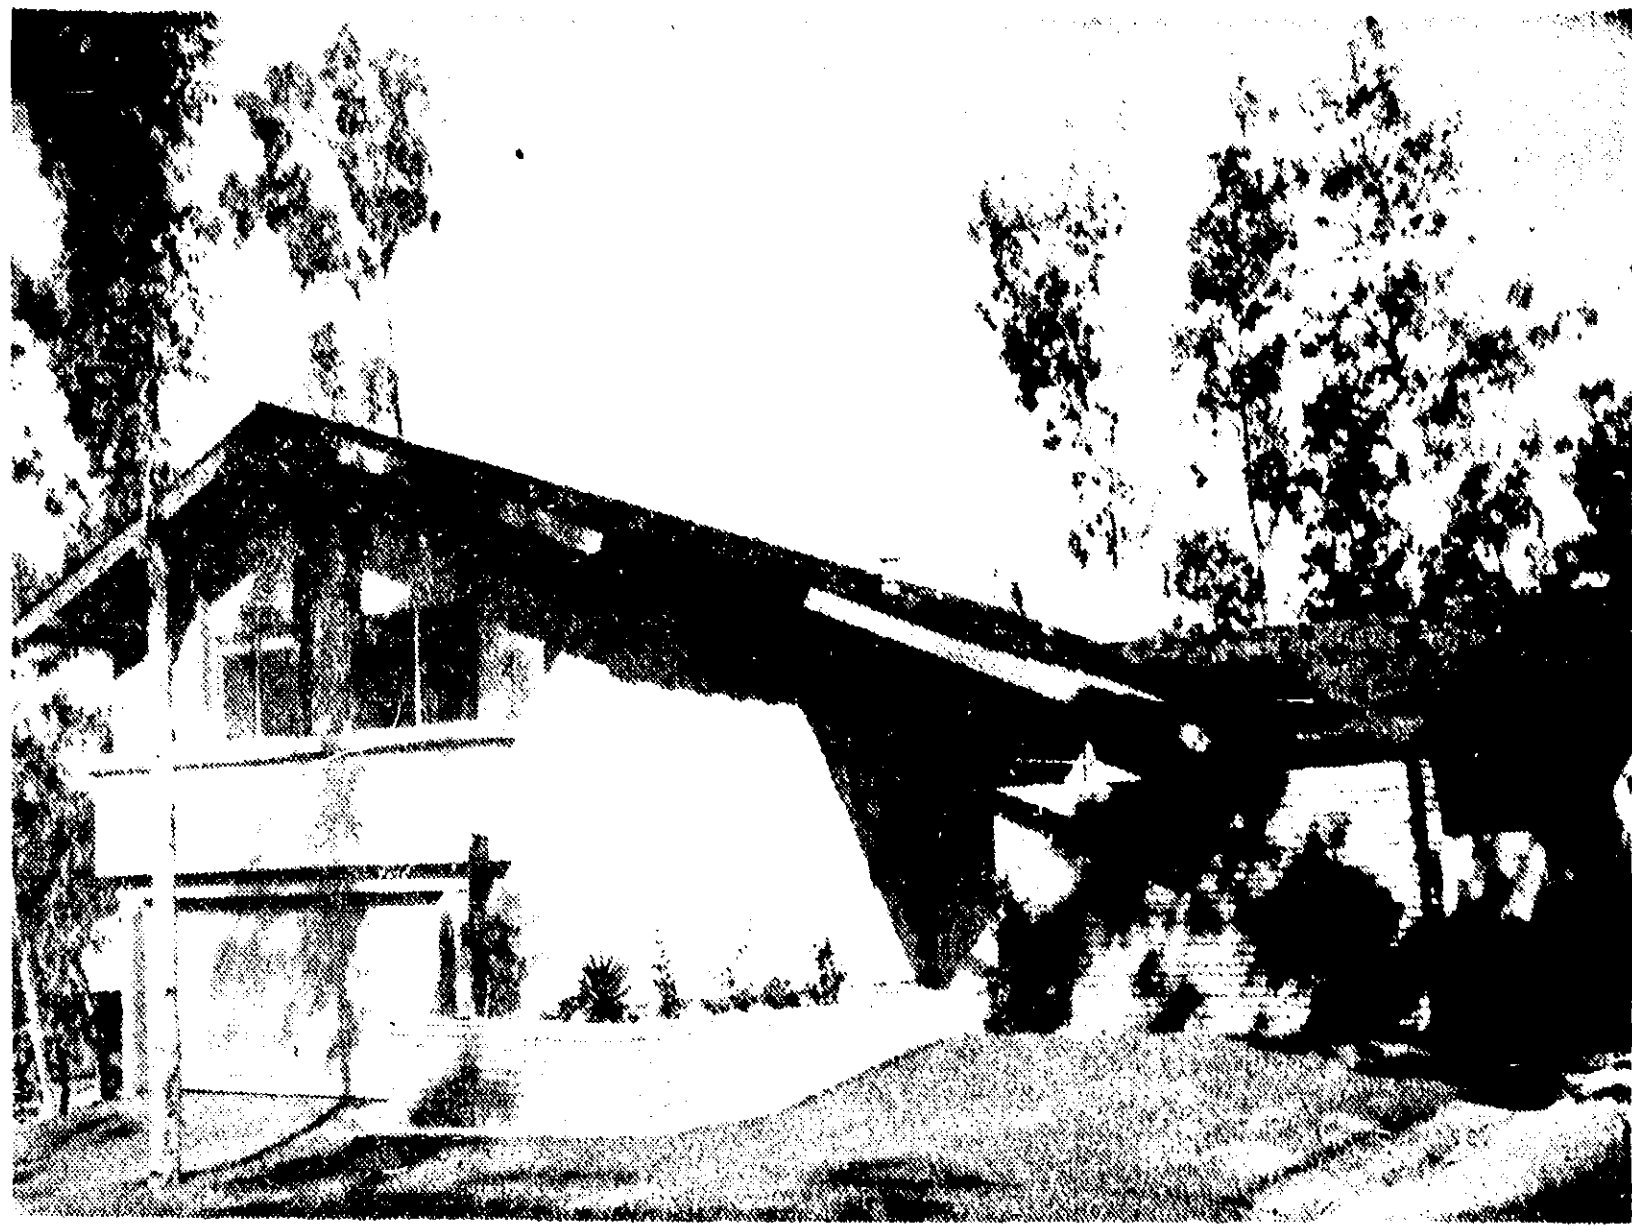

The publication lists 252 whose total volume amounts to $8.5 billion. The biggest giant of all is Boise Cascade Corp., Boise, Idaho, with $248 million.

The giants in this area include: Kaufman & Broad, Inc., Los Angeles, $135 million. Fleetwood Enterprises, Riverside, $110 million. R&B Development Co., Los Angeles, $92 million. PARENTS GET A BREAK

This spacious Franciscan Fountains home by Wm. Lyon in Huntington Beach includes the "Parent-Saver Retreat," a luxurious master bedroom apartment with dressing room and bath, walk-in cedar-floored closet, and its own separate den. Franciscan Fountains homes start at $30,990.

Lyon's Franciscan Fountains Features 'Parent-Saver Retreat'

Flexible living areas and multi-purpose bonus room space which have been designed into Wm. Lyon homes at every price level are major reasons for these homes' continued popularity with homebuyers at five prime Orange County locations.

At luxurious Franciscan Fountains in Huntington Beach, both Plan 4 and Plan 6 feature Lyon's "Parent-Saver Retreat," a separate master bedroom suite which has evolved into a spacious apartment. In addition to the large bedroom, generous-sized dressing room with cedar-floored closet, and private bath with shower, a separate den is included.

This extra room can function as a private office, library, studio, or romantic second parlor. Or, in Plan 6, the buyer may choose to have this extra room constructed as another bedroom, thus giving this plan five bedrooms in all. Plan 6 also has an oversized walk-in closet. Access to the full second story is by a broad, curving central staircase.

The "Parent-Saver Retreat" in some elevations of Plan 4 opens to a view garden deck for private sunning and relaxation.

Franciscan Fountains Ey-the-Sea is a spinoff development with the same desirable features, also built by the Wm. Lyon Development Company, which is the world-wide real estate subsidiary of American Standard, Inc.

The "Parent-Saver Retreat" is featured, along with all-glass kitchens with built-in range and self-cleaning oven and dishwasher. Fireplace, wall-to-wall carpeting, and complete fencing with gate are included in the purchase price.

Several plans have separate utility rooms, and one model features an unusual spacious front "parlor" in addition to the large living room and separate dining area.

As its name indicates, Franciscan Fountains By-the-Sea is within walking distance of the ocean and broad, sandy swimming beaches. at 21852 Oceanview Lane. Take San Diego Freeway to Brookhurst and south to models.

These homes, priced from $33,490, are available in both single and two-story models, with 4 or 5 bedrooms.

Belmeadow Homes, at Slater and Edwards in Huntington Beach, include a two-story plan in which the entire upper floor may be finished according to the owner's individual needs. Four different optional finishes are available.

This huge bonus room may be finished with four windows, forced air heating, switched electrical outlets and plumbing ready for future bath — to be used as a recreation room, studio, practice room or teen center. Or it can be a big master suite with walk-in dressing room and bath, plus parent's retreat; or completed with two or three additional bedrooms, to provide for the larger family.

Belmeadow Homes are also available in single story models, with two to four bedrooms, terrace kitchen with patio serving counter and built-ins, including double ovens, and ceramic tile counters.

Ranging from $25,990, homes can be reached by taking San Diego Freeway to Golden West exit, south of Slater, then west to Edwards and the model complex.

California Classics homes, at 5931 Orannen Drive near Meadowlark Golf Course, have proved so popular that Lyon is building them at several locations throughout the state. From 2 to 5 bedrooms in size, they include fencing and carpeting in living room, hall and master bedroom.

Plan 3 has a third bedroom opening off the living room which may be used as a separate second family activity area, a spacious room for pursuing one's hobbies, or a quiet study. In Plan 5 the big second-story Bonus Room, with a variety of options, is featured.

Take the San Diego Freeway to the Springdale exit, then go south to the models, just below Warner Ave. All four Huntington Beach developments are available with FHA, VA or conventional financing.

Luxurious Sunny Hills West in Fullerton, with such opulent features as skylight rooms, also include a variety of flexible features. In one plan, the Bonus Room upstairs may be developed as a separate bedroom wing, giving the home seven bedrooms in all. A dramatic split-level model is designed for a wet bar; in this model, the buyer may also choose to have the master bedroom constructed to that it overlooks the two-story living room below, creating a feeling of great spaciousness.

To see these exclusive homes, priced from just $36,990, take Euclid Ave. north to Rosecrans, then left to the models at 1973 Celeste Lane, in Fullerton.

Landmark, Cerritos, Draws Crowds

Hundreds of persons visited the newest Landmark Homes' subdivision in Cerritos as the $3.5 million community continued its preview opening last weekend, according to Bob James, vice president and general manager.

Signal Landmark Inc., builder of Landmark Homes, is offering 115 new homes in the development on South Street between Norwalk Boulevard and Bloomfield Avenue.

The one and two story homes, designed by R. J. Marvick & Associates, range in price from $28,375 to $32,875 for plans that offer three and four bedrooms. Five different floor plans are available with a choice of more than 15 exterior designs included.

Most Landmark Homes' plans offer three-car garages. One plan includes an unfinished area on the second level called the "imagination room." This room can be used as the homebuyer desires, whether it be extra bedrooms or a study and work room. It may be finished whenever the family feels the need for the additional space. Forced air heating, fireplaces, acoustical ceilings and built-in TV antennas are included in all plans. Also included are rear yard fencing and patio kitchens with built-in range, hood, fan, oven, disposal and dishwasher.

The Cerritos development by Signal Landmark Inc., one of the Signal Companies of Los Angeles, is a private walled community with underground utilities.

To reach the new Landmark Homes model area from the San Gabriel Freeway, take the South Street exit east. From the Artesia Freeway, take the Norwalk Boulevard exit south to South Street and turn left to the five model homes.

Dick Sheakley, sales manager at the Landmark Homes subdivision in La Palma, reports that sales have been brisk because of the "back to school" promotion at the Walker Street site.

For the next month

Landmark will feature its homes as back to school specials in lot-by-lot sales. July and August are traditionally the months families with school children choose to move.

Landmark has 30 new homes available for immediate occupancy in the final unit of this $2.6 million community. It is claimed that Landmark has more new homes ready to move in than any other subdivision in La Palma.

LONG BEACH, CALIF., SATURDAY, AUG. 15, 1970

New Republic Accent Is On Youth

PLACE IN THE SUN . . . a Tenant Relaxes by the Pool

SPACIOUS INTERIOR . . . Has Shag Carpet.

SPACIOUS MIRROR . . . a Boon to Young Beauty.

Fountain Valley New Republic, the third young adult apartment community to be developed in Orange County this year by Republic Homes, celebrated its grand opening this week.

Moderately priced for recreation-minded single and young married tenants, the New Republic is located at 17060 San Bruno Street, just south of Warner Avenue and one block east of Brookhurst Street.

Now open and 40 per cent occupied is the first of three phases consisting of 132 multi-sized furnished and unfurnished apartments. A 172-unit second phase is scheduled for completion within 30 days. The 168-unit third phase will be ready for occupancy early this fall, making the 472-unit complex the largest of its kind in Orange County.

Its location near the intersection of two of the city's major surface streets and a half mile from the San Diego Freeway gives tenants swift access to major business and employment centers.

Beach areas are only 10 minutes away. Directly across Warner Avenue is Mile Square Park with its 18-hole public golf course and club house. A new picnic area, lake and restaurant adjoin the golf course.

The most ambitious apartment project undertaken by Republic Homes since the opening of its Garden Grove and Tustin complexes earlier this year, Fountain Valley New Republic features a large swimming pool and jacuzzi in each construction phase area, numerous outdoor gas-fired barbecues and concrete walkways circling through a rolling landscape of full grown pine and olive trees, shrubbery and bushes.

Attractively clustered throughout the area are eight to 24-unit Mediterranean styled complexes with tiled roofs, balconies for each second story apartment and concrete patios for ground level units.

"We've probably spent more for landscaping than any other apartment builder in Orange County," said Republic Homes President Clarence Minnerly.

"In conceiving the Fountain Valley New Republic, we wanted to give our primarily young adult tenants a place with as much privacy as possible. A place with a feeling of long established permanency."

The accent for the interior is on color, from burnt orange, golden and yellows for furnished apartments in strictly Mediterranean motif, to cool greens in the unfurnished units.

Of the latter, interior decorator Suzanne Peters said: "I've tried to get away from any particular motif for those tenants so they can do a great deal with a small amount of money to make their apartment attractive."

Every unit, furnished or unfurnished, features wall to wall shag carpeting with matching color accent wall, all electric kitchens with dishwasher (and refrigerator in the furnished units), air conditioning, drapes and illuminated ceilings in the kitchen and dressing area.

Units vary from one bedroom and one bath to two bedrooms and a single bath and two bedrooms, two baths. The two bedroom one bath units have walk-in closets.

Republic Homes, one of the Southland's leading builders of luxury homes for nearly a decade, entered the apartment field in January of this year when it opened its 122-unit Garden Grove New Republic at 13212 Magnolia St., one block south of Garden Grove Boulevard.

In February, the 224-unit Tustin new Republic at 15529 Williams St., just north of McFadden Street, was completed.

The Garden Grove complex currently enjoys 99 per cent occupancy. Occupancy at the Tustin facility is nearing 70 per cent.

Republic is readying a fourth complex this fall, the Huntington Beach New Republic, a 264-unit apartment community which will incorporate all the features of the Fountain Valley complex plus a recreation building and paved cobblestone entrance. The Huntington Beach complex will bring the total number of Republic built apartments in the county to 1,082.

Republic Homes has developed more than $200 million in new home building in Southern California since its founding in 1962.

Projects include the original master plan for the 750 acre Mesa Verde Estates in Costa Mesa where Republic has built more than 800 luxury homes, plus other sizable developments in Yorba Linda, Laguna Hills, Porter Ranch, Friendly Hills, Laguna Beach, Santa Ana, Palmdale and San Diego.

Continental Salesmen's Sets Record Salaries in July Is Topic

LOS ANGELES — Continental Airline's domestic passenger traffic for July was the highest in the carrier's 36-year history, setting an all-time company record, it was announced by Charles A. Bucks, senior vice president-marketing.

Revenue passenger miles were 456 million, 41.6 per cent higher than the July 1969 figure of 322 million. (A revenue passenger mile is one passenger carried one mile.)

Cargo ton miles totaled more than six million, a 55.1 per cent rise over the four million flown in July of last year. The July cargo results were the best for any July in the company's history.

"The July results are most encouraging," said Bucks. "About a third of the increase was realized on the same routes we were flying last July, with the remainder coming from our Mainland to Hawaii service." Continental started Mainland-Hawaii service Sept. 9, 1969.

The company also started Boeing 747 service June 26 between Los Angeles and Honolulu and on July 18 put a second 747 into service between Chicago-Los Angeles-Honolulu. Continental's third 747 will commence Hawaii service Aug. 29.

N.C.A. ELECTS SWEENEY

The Long Beach Chapter of the National Association of Accountants has elected John Sweeney as President for 1970-71. Sweeney is employed as Regional Controller for AMERON in South Gate.

How new home salesmen should be paid, and how much, will be reviewed by three speakers representing management of home-building firms at the dinner meeting of the Sales and Marketing Council of the Building Industry Association on Wednesday at the Rodger Young Auditorium, Los Angeles.

The program will start at 7:00 p.m. preceded by a social hour at 6:00 p.m. All salesmen, or other persons in the building industry, are invited to attend. Reservations can be made by calling the Sales and Marketing Council at the Building Industry Association.

Speakers will include: George J. Heltzer, president, George J. Heltzer & Associates, Los Angeles; Pete Fisher, vice president, William Lyon Development Co., Inc. Newport Beach; Dave Maddocks, general sales manager, Mission Viejo Co., Mission Viejo.

W. E. Mitchell, President of the SMC, will be the moderator.

Following the formal presentations, there will be an open round table discussion of commissions, draws, salary plans, fringe benefits, profit sharing programs, insurance, paid vacations, and all aspects of compensation for new home salesmen.

Carson Approves Mobile Home Park

ANAHEIM — Commissioners of the City of Carson have unanimously approved construction of the New Horizons Mobile Home Park in the Civic Center Zone, on land having frontage on Avalon Boulevard and Grace Avenue, and bounded on the north by the San Diego Freeway.

The park was designed and developed by John A. Defalco & Associates, Inc., for owner Edward Candler.

The 22-acre park will have only 168 spaces, averaging 50 by 70 feet in size, and all streets will be 30 feet wide, with 24-inch rolled concrete curbs on both sides.

The central recreation building, in a modern Spanish motif, will have 4,700 square feet under roof, and large assembly hall, private club rooms, dance floor, billiard room, arts and crafts shop, professional type stage, and other modern facilities. It will be air-conditioned.

Water facilities include large swimming pool, therapeutic pools, and sauna baths.

An unusual feature of construction is the large amount of fill required. To bring up to grade it is estimated that 200,000 cubic yards of fill will be needed.

Another unusual feature is the required setback of 20 feet from the roadway on sides facing residential areas, and a condition that all fencing be in conformity with the area.

According to Ed Candler, construction will start as soon as some fill is located.

Vice President

G. S. "Syd" Bloomfield has been appointed Vice President-Marine Engineering for UNICOR, INC. of Paramount, base designer and manufacturer of reinforced plastic structural materials, according to an announcement made by W. D. Gower, Chairman of the Board.

Airline to Buy FM Stations

SAN DIEGO (BW) — Pacific Southwest Airlines (PSA) this week took the initial step to enter the broadcasting communications field by entering into an agreement to purchase two Southern California FM radio stations, according to an announcement by PSA President J. Floyd Andrews.

Radio stations KBBI-Los Angeles and KBBW-San Diego are to be purchased from Biola College of Los Angeles who have operated both stations in connection with their Christian institution. The purchase is subject to approval of the Federal Communications Commission and other regulatory agencies.

Brock Homes Available for No Down, $7.77 a Day

THE $7.77-A-DAY HOUSE

Styled to blend into the surrounding area of The Country Scene in Lake Forest, the two-bedroom Dimension House makes dramatic use of a large roof overhang to create an impressive entry. This exterior design is one of four available on this model, which veterans may purchase for just $7.77 a day.

"Today, with all the confusion about home financing costs, people are looking for terms they can understand," observes Lester Goodman, vice president of marketing for M. J. Brock & Sons, Inc.

buyers who are veterans, our FHA terms for the other buyers are just as good.

"Many people pay more than $7.77 per day to rent an apartment and home ownership offers many more benefits," Goodman said. "The equity on a house such as this builds on the average of $1,000 a year. This money is a direct investment and savings. Few choices are open to people to make such an investment as this with little or no money down. And, there are additional benefits in terms of such tax deductions as interest payments and real estate taxes.

"These are not just ordinary homes, either," Goodman stated. "M. J. Brock & Sons, Inc. is a half-century old general contracting firm that builds a home with the same craftsmanship that goes into one of its high-rise apartment structures. The plans were created by Barry Berkus, one of Southern California's most acclaimed designers."

"The Country Scene offers unusual individuality with 20 different exterior designs and a choice of lot shape and garage location. With our Select-A-Site Plan, front, rear, and side yards may be chosen to best suit the buyer's needs."

Goodman stressed that the home available for $7.77 a day includes a custom-designed fireplace, wood shingle roof, carpeting, dishwasher and double oven.

The Brock development offers five one-story and two-story plans with two to four bedrooms. Prices range from $24,550 to $33,100 with the only FHA-VA terms in Lake Forest.

The Country Scene may be reached by taking the Santa Ana or San Diego Freeway to the El Toro Road offramp, going north on El Toro to Muirlands and west on Muirlands past Ridge Route Drive to the models.

Commodity Exchange to Open in October

DAVID CALLAHAN

It may come as a surprise, but the dollar volume traded on the two major commodities exchanges in Chicago is greater than that of the two major stock exchanges in New York.

And to bring it closer to home, there are 200,000 active commodities traders in the 11 western states, with the overwhelming majority located in California metropolitan areas. The commodities most frequently traded by them are cocoa, copper, silver and sugar.

This information is part of a 16-month feasibility study developed by the West Coast Commodity Exchange which is scheduled to open in early October and will become the first major commodities exchange to be established in more than 50 years and also the first in the western U.S. The exchange will deal in futures contracts in four internationally traded commodities: cocoa, copper, silver and sugar.

"Based on the study, we felt that a western-based commodities exchange dealing in these four commodities would provide an invaluable service for traders, speculators, hedgers and brokers in the west," said David Callahan, president of the exchange.

Apparently the idea has struck a timely and responsive chord, for in only six weeks after announcing the availability of memberships, there were more than 125 approved members. The original projections were for 250 members by the end of the first year's operations.

"Obviously, then," Callahan stated, "on our opening date we'll have a reasonably high level of trading activity on the floor, an absolute must for any successful commodities trading operation."

The Exchange has entered into a long term $1.3 million lease for the ninth and tenth floors of the building at 643 South Olive Street, Los Angeles. The ninth floor will house the executive and administrative offices, The Board of Governor's conference room and the Clearing House while the tenth floor is currently undergoing a $200,000 reconstruction and interior design program to make it the most modern and efficient trading floor in the world."

Designed and color coordinated to reflect the charm of an older Los Angeles, the 6,680 square-foot trading floor will include a glass paneled visitors gallery, specially designed desks for traders, the trading pits, and a massive electronic information display board which provides instantaneous commodities price reports from markets throughout the world.

"The most obvious advantage of membership in the exchange is to have floor privileges where there is immediate access to data regarding price fluctuations and a viable market place to consummate a trade on an instantaneous basis. Frequently in commodities trading, the time factor — down to the fraction of a minute — can be the difference between a profit or a loss transaction.

"Naturally, other advantages for members include reduced trading fees, as well as their ability to trade for their own accounts and, when qualified, to act as brokers for others," Callahan continued.

Another advantage to traders now using other commodities exchanges will be an hour's later closing time in Los Angeles. This offers a period of "arbitrage" between closing and opening of the other markets — the same advantage inherent in the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange.

The current cost of a seat on the exchange is $2,450. According to the Exchange's rules and regulations, the price per seat rises as the membership increases, with the top limit placed on 500 members.

Callahan noted that membership applications are evaluated on the basis of character, intention to trade and net worth.

And what little slugger can resist the temptation to leave Dad a not-too-subtle reminder that the family station wagon has a dirty tailgate window? With a "Better Idea" for harried fathers, Lincoln-Mercury Division offers a station wagon rear window washer that removes Junior's reminder as quickly as he can climb from the roof. A special switch on the instrument panel lowers the window and raises it again while washer fluid is sprayed on the glass. Dirt and fluid are removed by a wiper hidden in the tailgate. The washer is optional equipment on all 1971 Mercury station wagons.

World of Wheels

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

One of Detroit's newest entries into the small-car field, the Vega 2300, will be the "best" and most tested cars ever produced in this country. John Z. DeLorean, chief of General Motors' Chevrolet Division, said in New York.

The first 3,000 Vegas off the assembly line will "get a long road test — every one of them," DeLorean stated in an interview in the current issue of Look Magazine.

"If a problem develops, we'll continue to drive the cars until it's ironed out. Nobody, not even Cadillac, ever launched a product with that kind of a test," he added.

Forecasting that the Vega will have the first year sales of 375,000 units, DeLorean predicted that mini-sized entries and compact cars like Chevy's Nova and Camaro models, could win as much as 50 per cent of new car sales during the 1970's.

He declared that a successful Vega, which will cut into the sales of imported cars, will also serve an important economic need of the nation.

"One of the big things we are going to do is eliminate the balance of payment inequity. The biggest share of the imbalance is the money spent on little cars made in foreign countries," the Chevrolet head asserted.

In the Look interview, DeLorean conceded that the safety critics had prodded his industry into a faster schedule, but he said he couldn't understand why the chronic drinker should be allowed to drive.

"He's identifiable, should be yanked off the road. Get rid of the alcoholic and the narcotics addict and traffic deaths would drop 74 per cent," DeLorean contended.

He also questioned why the various state legislatures haven't ordered the installation of kits, available for about $10, which would reduce emissions from older cars.

"If every car produced before '69 had them," he claimed, "our air would be as pure as it was 30 years ago."

GRADUATES of a unique training program in fundamental automotive body repair have started new jobs with Chrysler dealerships in California and Nevada.

The seven men were trained at the Oakland Naval Hospital motor pool by Chrysler Corporation prior to their discharge from military service. It is the first time such a program has been conducted for military personnel on a military installation.

The course was part of Chrysler Corporation's National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB) Job Opportunities in the Business Sector (JOBS) training programs. It is designed to help disadvantaged persons develop apprentice level skills in the automotive body-repair field.

"Before entering the program, these men were guaranteed jobs with specific automobile dealers," explained James D. White, counselor for Project Transition at the Oakland Naval Hospital. "In this way, they finish the program not only with a skill but with a job. In addition, they are able to seek employment in an area which they prefer. One of the men who participated in the program, for example, is now working in Las Vegas, Nev., his hometown."

To qualify for the program, participants must meet one of four criteria: be a high school dropout, be under 22 years of age or over 45, disabled, or a member of a minority group. Three members of the first class were disabled Vietnam War veterans.

Vet Can Get Swank Home With Dollar Down Payment

MOERN KITCHEN

Spacious, well-planned work-saver kitchens with pass-through windows are a feature of Sol Vista Homes in Fountain Valley. Ranging in size from 3 to 7 bedrooms and starting Through special financing arrangements, a veteran and his family can now move into a Sol Vista Home in Fountain Valley with a down payment of only $1, it was announced this week by Al Solomon, president of Alco - Pacific Construction Company, builder of Sol Vista Homes.

"While this program is in effect, veterans can purchase a home ranging from $32,950 to $37,500 and up to seven bedrooms in size with a $1 down payment," Solomon stated. "We're not sure how long this financing feature will be available, but we do have approval to make the offer through the month of August," he continued.

Sol Vista Homes in Fountain Valley has both one and two-story models ranging upward from three bedrooms and providing 17 distinctive exterior designs. Among the newly designed homes in the "Cascade" model which is designed for up to 7 bedrooms.

Features included in Sol Vista Homes are convenient work-saver kitchens with pass-through windows, carpeting in all living areas, fencing, cathedral ceilings, step-down living rooms, large family rooms, and all major built-in appliances.

in price at $32,950 the new homes are located on Magnolia just north of the San Diego Freeway. Five model homes are open from 10 a.m. daily.

Sol Vista Homes in Fountain Valley offers interested buyers an opportunity to acquire a spacious new home in an established community at attractive prices. Regional shopping centers and parks are less than five minutes away. Service and specialty shops are located immediately adjacent to the development. A new elementary school is located within the community and is scheduled to open in September. Warm sparkling beaches are less than a 10-minute drive, and a local park for residents of the area has been planned.

Impressive fireplaces of brick or stone are among other features of each Sol Vista Home. Oversized master suites, with separate bath and dressing areas, huge walk-in closets, handsome custom cabinets in each kitchen, concrete driveways, two and three-car garages, and shingle, shake or tile roofs are also part of the Sol Vista "package." Front sprinklers and lawn are also included.

In addition to VA and FHA loans, new lower conventional financing is also available. Sol Vista has built and sold more than 3,000 homes in Orange County since 1954.

Larwin Sells Four Apartment Complexes

BEVERLY HILLS — Western Diversified Equities has purchased four California apartment developments from Larwin Multihousing Corp. in a transaction valued at more than $8 million.

Announcement of the transaction was made jointly by Laurentz R. Marsters, Executive Vice President of Western Diversified Equities, subsidiary of Beverly Hills Bancorp. and J. B. Brown, Executive Vice President of Larwin Multihousing, subsidiary of The Larwin Group, Inc.

Three of the apartment complexes are Tara Hill developments in Cypress, Northridge, and Canoga Park. Larwin recently unveiled its first Tara Hill in Cypress. The fourth apartment community will be a development for adults in Canoga Park. Of the four, only the Cypress Tara Hill is now completed.

Western Diversified Equities has retained Larwin Multihousing's Property Management Division on a long-term basis to manage the apartments.

"We're pleased to have our investors share in an investment that offers such an outstanding opportunity for equity build-up, capital appreciation, and high annual tax-sheltered cash yield," stated Marsters.

"We are also delighted to acquaint our investor-clients with apartment complexes of this caliber. In design, concept and construction, Larwin has demonstrated a unique ability to produce a superior project."

"Larwin's goal is to demonstrate the same expertise and professionalism in the apartment field that it has already achieved nationally in single family and townhome communities," said Brown.

The Larwin Group, Inc., leading national housing producer with interests in mortgage banking and finance, commercial-industrial and recreation land development, mobile home parks, home furnishings, home resale, and related services, is an affiliate of CNA Financial Corp. (NYSE), Chicago-based company with assets in excess of $3 billion.

Western Union to Hire 1,500

NEW YORK — The Western Union Telegraph Company today launched the most extensive employee recruiting campaign in its 120-year history.

The company will hire about 1,500 technicians, repairmen, clerks, dispatchers and other personnel to handle operations of the nationwide Teletypewriter Exchange (TWX) service which Western Union has purchased from the Bell System and will begin operating early next year. The new employees will operate and maintain TWX, and perform all other business functions relating to the service.

According to R. W. McFall, Western Union chairman and president, "The acquisition of TWX is a major step forward in creating an integrated national record message service as recommended by the Federal Communications Telephone and Telegraph Committees."

FIRST-CLASS SEATS

BURBANK — American Airlines, Inc., has awarded a contract for first-class seating on their DC-10 aircraft to Burns Aero Seat Company. The contract covers 25 DC-10's and is valued in excess of $1 million. According to Jerry E. Goldress, president of Burns, this is the first DC-10 order received by the seat builder. Burns is supplying first-class seating and upper deck swivel chairs to American for their 747s.

VILLA D'VENTO... New Swank Apartment Complex

Villa D'Vento Open House to Be Held on Aug. 23

An Open House, Sunday, Aug. 23, at the Villa D'Vento, a remarkable 88-unit apartment complex at 5711 Ravenspur Drive, Palos Verdes Peninsula, should provide guests with enough "conversation-piece" palaver to warm the cockles of the collective hearts of owner-builder Mayer Construction Co., Inc. and architects Kamitzer-Marks & Partners, designers of the project.

The 80,000-square-foot Villa, an architectural uniqueness with its maze of courtyards and roof-decks, is reminiscent, according to one's mood, of a Mediterranean hillside village, a medieval castle or a Spanish fortress. The 3-story garden development, a blending of harmonious colors accenting the pearl-white of the buildings, is built on a picturesque site, sloping 70 feet from one end to the other. A dynamic interplay of massive forms, the architectural design was dictated by the natural projections and sloping surface of the terrain.

A sparkling stream flows through the ground, breaking into gentle rapids at various points. A spectacular effect is created by strategically-placed 12' high waterfalls cascading near the front entrance and in the central courtyard, where a gazebo is set amidst the variegated landscaping. John McKinney, who cooperated in the design of the building complex, "choreographed" the landscaping. The project comprises one- and two-bedroom apartments with private enclosed patios which allow wide scenic views of the surrounding area. Penthouse units feature a roof-deck patio as well as two additional terraces. Pool-decks surround the olympic-size swimming pool. A recreation room, amplified TV systems, subterranean parking areas and three laundry rooms are but a few of the features offered. Close by, the modern Peninsula (Shopping) Center, with attractive malls, contain a variety of stores and fine restaurants.

Rentals range from $185 to $310. Union Bank provided the interim financing for the project which cost just under $2 million.

Forest Olson Opens Office in Santa Ana

Forest E. Olson, Inc., Realtors, celebrated their 17th anniversary last week with the opening of their 29th sales office, setting a new record of expansion in the industry, according to Forest E. Olson, president.

The new branch at 2140 N. Main St. in Santa Ana, headed by branch manager Pat Jones, is the seventh new office to be opened by the network since the first of the year. In June the Yorba Linda office opened at 16611 Yorba Linda Boulevard, under the direction of branch manager Gary Winings. Other offices opened in Orange county since Jan. 1 include Buena Park, Cypress and Huntington Beach.

Since the organization was founded in 1953, sales volume has soared well over the $1 billion mark. Olson noted. This year the company has reported more than 2700 sales with volume in excess of $86 million. Olson predicted that his firm was well on its way to exceeding last year's figures of $150.4 million.

A subsidiary of Coldwell Banker & Co., the Forest Olson organization has become one of the nation's largest realtors through dominant advertising both in newspapers and direct mail campaigns, and complete real estate service by salespeople trained to professional status.

L.B. Business Rises Some During July

Local business improved moderately during July, according to L. H. Showalter, vice president and manager of Security Pacific National Bank's Long Beach office.

Showalter estimates June-to-July gains in construction, real estate sales and department store sales. Bank debits, a measure of total spending, declined fractionally.

Although seasonally adjusted civilian employment declined slightly during June — the latest month for which labor statistics are available — Southern California's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate declined for the first time in six months.

Total business activity, as measured by Security Pacific Bank's index (1947-49 equals 100.0), climbed to 206.3, up 0.8 per cent from 204.6 in June and 3 per cent better than the 200.3 reading for July of 1969.

Security Pacific National Bank, founded in 1871 as the Farmers & Merchants Bank, Los Angeles, is one of the largest banks in California and operates the second largest branch-banking system in the United States. With assets of $6.9 billion, Security Pacific maintains more than 400 domestic banking locations and international offices in London, Tokyo and soon, Hong Kong.

PORTS O'PROGRESS

By JACK O. BALDWIN
Marine Editor

There are two changes pending in the cadre of the Los Angeles Board of Harbor Commissioners.

Dr. William F. Quinn, San Pedro physician, has been shifted by Mayor Sam Yorty from the Harbor Commission to the Airport Commission.

Replacing him will be John B. Kilroy, prominent developer, yachtsman, and president of the committee which tried unsuccessfully to bring the 1976 Olympics to Los Angeles.

Mayor Yorty originally intended to appoint Kilroy to the Airport Commission. When it was discovered he had property adjacent to the airport and therefore might be involved in a conflict of interest in matters relating to airport affairs Dr. Quinn was appointed to the Airport Commission leaving a vacancy on the Harbor Commission.

The other Harbor Commission change involves Fred I. Wada, who has tendered his resignation to Mayor Yorty.

Wada, who is active in Japanese-American affairs in the Los Angeles area said his activities on behalf of the Japanese community prevented him from devoting his full energies to port matters.

IN-PORT-ANT-PEOPLE: Norman E. Dunnivant, recently retired president of the C. A. Page Publishing Co., was chided Monday for being a "short-timer" and a "quitter."

The publishing company executive was feted Monday by Long Beach port officials during an informal luncheon marking Dunnivant's retirement after 49 years with the Daily Commercial News and Shipping Guide. The publication is considered the bible of the Southern California maritime industry.

H. E. (Bud) Ridings, Jr., president of the Board of Harbor Commissioners, noted the well-known newspaperman "deserted ship" a year short of a half century of association with the Commercial News.

Dunnivant, an avid golfer, was presented with a gold-plated putter designed with a built-in three-put limitation.

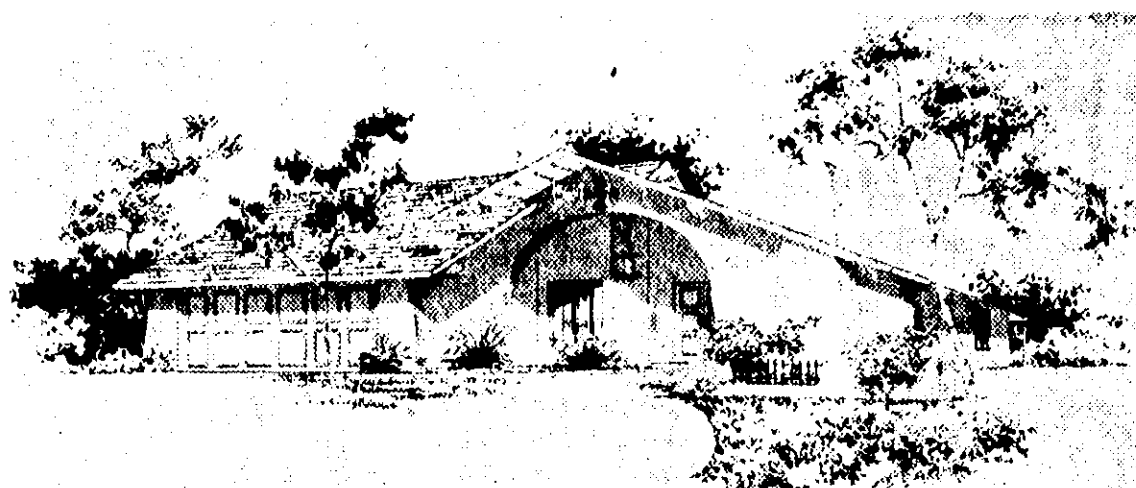

CONSIDERING THE GROSS TONNAGE of ships now under construction throughout the world, the U.S.A. is lagging behind like the proverbial cow's tail.

According to Lloyd's Register of Shipping Japan now has under construction 20,622,424 tons gross. This compares with 1,741,562 tons gross being constructed in this country.

The U.S.A. is at the bottom of a list of 11 countries building new ships — not considering Communist China and the U.S.S.R.

Tonnage on order but not commenced has reached a record high making the total on order $4,658,777 tons. The sequence of record figures for the order book continues unbroken since December 1966. The present on order total is almost double the figure of 33.6 million tons shown at that time.

La Linda Park Series Opening

LA LINDA HOME . . . One of the Park Series.

The first unit of La Linda Homes' Park Series in Fountain Valley is ready for occupancy and families can move in before the start of school, according to a representative from Walker & Lee Real Estate.

Located on Euclid Street, just north of Warner Avenue, and across from Fountain Valley's Mile Square Park, the community, to eventually comprise some 228 homes, offers single, two-story and tri-level plans ranging in price from $29,950.

Directly across from the Euclid Street model entrance is the Mile Square Regional Park, one of the newest and most complete community parks in Southern California. The park offers a myriad of recreational facilities.

La Linda has four model homes of Spanish, contemporary and traditional designs. Plans with three, four and five bedrooms, two or three baths and two and three-car garages are available.

A completely finished bonus room in the Santa Barbara (plan 26) model can be used as a rumpus room, or converted to provide any type of room a homebuyer may need, including extra bedrooms.

Several optional room arrangements are displayed at the La Linda sales display center.

The homes are said to be completely family-ready, including in the purchase price such items as drapes, double entry doors, fireplaces with log lighters, custom carpeting, paneled family room walls, formal dining rooms, private bath suites for all master bedrooms, forced air heating and walk-in closets are all included in the La Linda homes.

The exteriors are provided with wood, shake and shingle roofs, concrete driveways, front private courts, front yard landscaping with a tree and sprinklers, rear yard fencing and balconies.

La Linda's builders, Richard Hall and Robert

Main, have retained Walker & Lee as sales counselors for the Fountain Valley homes. FHA, VA and conventional terms are available.

Walker & Lee will keep offices and models open daily from 10 a.m. to dusk. For information phone (714) 839-2580.

The model homes at La Linda Homes' Magnolia series are now being sold as only seven homes remain in the series of large homes, according to Richard Hall, principal of Linda Homes.

The Magnolia series is the first of two La Linda subdivisions in that city.

The average home in the series has 2,200 square feet of living space and the largest model has over 2,500 square feet. All models have large entry halls, living rooms and dining rooms.

Entries have Italian ceramic tile floor and wallpaper. The family rooms are wood-paneled. More than three dozen extra features can be found in the kitchen, including side-by-side double ovens and double broilers, three-compartment sinks, built-in electric toaster, can opener, blender and timer and furniture-finish cabinets with silver storage drawer and pull-out pan shelves and towel racks.

On Magnolia Street, one block north of Talbert Avenue, the models can be reached by taking the San Diego Freeway to Magnolia, then driving south one mile. Or Talbert may be taken east from Beach Boulevard or west from Brookhurst Street.

Junior College Trainees
Faring Better Than PhDs

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
WASHINGTON — If you have just graduated from high school, don't have the grades, cash or inclination for the state university but are finding it difficult to get a job, go around the corner and investigate your community college.
That's the advice of many educators, who say that the nation's more than 1,000 two-year schools — called junior colleges in some areas — are developing occupational programs that, in many instances, produce jobs quicker than the university's doctorates.
Educators at all levels agree that the traditional liberal arts college or state university is not the best post secondary school course for every student.
As President Nixon said in his May 19 message on higher education:
"A traditional four-year college program is not suited to everyone. Our young people are not sheep to be regimented by the need for a certain type of status-bearing sheepskin." Citing manpower shortages in many occupational skills, Nixon said "community colleges and similar institutions have the potential to provide programs to train persons in these manpower-deficient fields."

The comprehensive community college is much like the supermarket — there is something for everyone's taste. The range is from a liberal arts or specialist education leading to an associates of arts degree, to technical training in the medical, supportive field, computers, cosmetology to barbering and restaurant and hotel work.
Time in school may run from as little as a week in a concentrated specialty course to a full two years and a degree or certification in a demanded skilled occupation.
Andrew Korim, occupational education specialist at the American Association of Junior Colleges, said in an interview that industry has discovered the community college and is now actively recruiting on the campuses.
"Occupational education gets the student into the labor market early," he added. "About 80 to 90 percent of the students who come to community colleges do so with an intention of pursuing a four-year degree, but in reality the percentage who go on to a four-year school is small. The bulk go through a transition period and find occupational programs of greater interest."
Forty years ago there were fewer than 200,000 students enrolled in two-year schools. Today there are 2 million.
The big surge in enrollment began in the late 1950s. And as two-year schools began mushrooming all over the United States, they also began developing wider and more comprehensive occupational programs.
Every state now has at least one two-year school and the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education in a special study recommended that in the next decade there should be a community college in commuting distance of every potential student.
Vocational programs, according to Korim, are keyed to the local and national demand for skilled help.
As an example, he cited a Chicago area school that developed a 4½ month course in cooperation with the paint industry. The course gave students a sophisticated understanding of the chemistry of paint, and was beneficial to salesmen as well as factory workers.

Other schools have two-year programs relating to the food industry, preparing students for jobs ranging from the stock room to middle management.
"Occupational education in community college gives the student an opportunity to learn in a highly realistic setting," Korim said.
The range of other careers and jobs waiting for a community college graduate is wide, Korim said, covering general fields of business and office, health, public service, technology and a miscellaneous category that ranges from graphic communications specialists to water and wastewater technology.
Financially, community colleges are in the reach of almost every student. Some schools charge no tuition, but the national average runs about $300 to $350 a full school year. In most instances, the student can live at home.
And does it pay off?
Yes, educators say. As an example, they cite Spokane Community College which this year graduated 15 students from a two-year program in cardiology technology.

Larwin's Tara Hill Offers Advantages to Young Families

A new concept in family apartment living, Larwin Multihousing Corporation's Tara Hill Apartments in Cypress, is now celebrating its preview opening.

Tara Hill features 144 luxury two and three bedroom apartments in single or split levels, with rentals beginning at $175 monthly.

"We've designed Tara Hill to offer families with young children living in apartments a range of conveniences heretofore unknown to this area," stated J. B. Brown, executive vice president of Larwin Multihousing.

"Tara Hill will offer complete recreation amenities, a fully accredited and professionally staffed day school with a complete preschool curriculum, and extensively trained, professional resident managers," said Brown.

"We have placed specific emphasis on providing our residents with the finest management anywhere, and our goal is to demonstrate the same expertise and professionalism in the apartment field as Larwin has already achieved nationally in the single family and townhome communities," explained Brown.

Tara Hill is Larwin's first apartment development, and the first of several apartment communities planned by Larwin in Southern California.

The community offers 10 radiant color schemes, offering a wide interior decor choice for discerning families. Each apartment includes fine shag carpeting, rough sawn paneling, decorator-selected resilient flooring, and custom counter tops and appliances which have been color co-ordinated to achieve a distinctive decor. Interiors are by the Larwin Home Center.

Tara Hill residents can also take advantage of the Larwin Home Center for professional decorator counsel and a wide range of traditional, contemporary or Mediterranean furniture. Larwin Home Center will allow residents of Tara Hill to lease or purchase all furnishings offered.

"We're encouraging residents to individualize their apartments with wallpaper and accent walls in order to convey the overall environmental atmosphere of a single family residence with all the conveniences that Tara Hill apartment

Cruttendens Build New Offices

A mortgage loan for 268,000 has been recorded for the Cruttendens, an Orange County stock brokerage family, on a two-story office building at 4600 Campus Drive, Newport Beach.

The loan by Great-West Life Assurance Co. was arranged by Wallace Moir Company, Beverly Hills mortgage banker, for Walter W. Cruttenden, and his sons, Walter, Jr. and James R. who have developed real estate in Southern California many years.

Walter, Sr., is vice president of Walston & Company. Walter, Jr. is president, and James is vice president of Cruttenden & Company.

The 36,515 square foot structure is in the Irvine Industrial Complex across the street from Orange County Airport. The building is of Spanish design with red mission clay tile, metal grill work and jumpstone veneer. It has a central heating and air conditioning system.

Design Group of Tustin was the architect. B. H. Miller Construction Co., Newport Beach, was the general contractor. Interim lending was provided by Union Bank, Orange living has to offer," said Nancie Larimore, Larwin's director of property management.

"Every Tara Hill apartment has a private balcony or a patio, and most have large private outside storage areas," state Miss Larimore. "The apartments feature Balance-flo gas air conditioning for year round comfort."

Tara Hill features three floor plans: a roomy two-bedroom, one-bath plan with a private storage area accessible from the patio; an innovative split level two-bedroom, two-bath plan; and a spacious three-bedroom, two-bath unit featuring a private master bedroom suite with a dressing area and large walk-in closet, and a color co-ordinated kitchen with a dishwasher.

Recreation is an integral component of the new community, with the three-story recreation center featuring an adult fire-side conversation lounge, an arts and crafts and game room, sauna, physical fitness center, an office, and other facilities. Tara Hill employs a professional recreation director who is developing a program of activities using the suggestions of new residents.

Two outdoor swimming pools, including an adult pool and a bubbling warm water pool are located in the central recreation area, in addition to a game court and two children's playgrounds.

The Tara Hill Day School will be located on the grounds adjacent to the recreation area. Pre-school curriculum will include reading readiness and development of sensorial skills, a second language, science, art, crafts, music, dramatics, and several other indoor-outdoor activities. The Day School will allow mothers to pursue outside activities or employment with the knowledge that their children are gaining valuable preschool experience.

Fifty-two apartments are ready for occupancy, with reservations being accepted for the balance to be completed next month. In addition to the full time resident managers on duty, a security guard will also patrol the project to provide further resident security.

Tara Hill is located on Moody Street just south of Lincoln in Cypress. The community is close to Orange County's top entertainment centers, including Disneyland, Knotts Berry Farm, Japanese Deer Park and Wax Museum, and Anaheim Stadium. It is surrounded by schools and churches and synagogues of all faiths; and the new Cypress West shopping center, in addition to several other shopping centers, makes shopping a breeze for Tara Hill residents.

The project was developed at a cost in excess of $2 million, and has been purchased from Larwin Multihousing for the investor-clients of Western Diversified Equities, a wholly owned subsidiary of Beverly Hills Bancorp. which is also the holding company for Beverly Hills National Bank.

"We are very pleased to have our investors share in an investment that offers such an outstanding opportunity for equity build-up, capital appreciation and a high annual tax-sheltered cash yield," stated Laurentz R. Marsters, executive vice president of Western Diversified Equities.

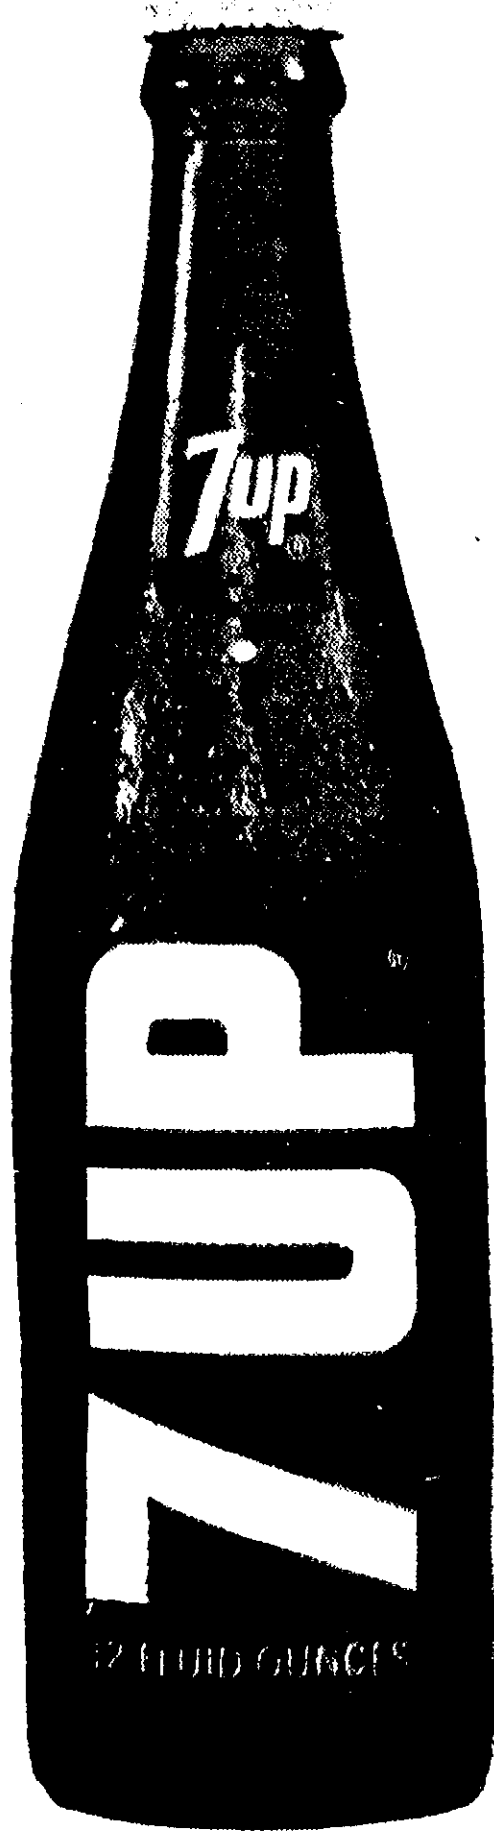

"Larwin has combined superior design, innovative concept, and exceptional construction standards to produce an overall superior project," said Marsters. "We're presently negotiating with Larwin Multihousing for the purchase of future Tara Hill developments."

To reach Tara Hill from the Santa Ana Freeway or Artesia Freeway take Carmenita South until it becomes Moody, and proceed to the community. From San Gabriel (605) turn east on Carson, which becomes Lincoln, to Moody and watch for direction signs. From Garden Grove and San Diego Freeways, go north on Valley View to Lincoln, then west to Moody and Tara Hill.

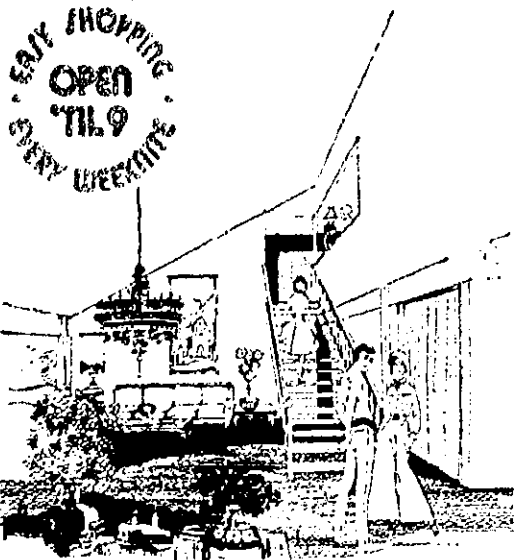

Larwin Multihousing is a part of The Larwin Group, Inc., leading national housing producer with interests in mortgage banking and finance, land development, and related services. Larwin is an affiliate of CNA Financial Corporation, Inc., (NYSE), Chicago-based company with assets in excess of $3 billion.

2 NAVY SHIPS GET GALA L.B. WELCOME AFTER VIET DUTY

The USS Berkeley and McKean with their 500 sailors arrived at Long Beach after six months' duty off Vietnam to a welcome reminiscent of Friday's place in history.

It was Aug. 14, the 25th anniversary of World War II's V-J Day. The ships moored within minutes of each other at Naval Station Pier 15, providing scores of happy vignettes in the clusters of happy wives, children, other relatives and friends.

The Cruiser-Destroyer Group band provided mood music.

The Berkeley, a missile destroyer, skippered by Cmdr. J. F. Frost, served two periods as escort for the supercarrier Constellation, providing close-in mission support for air strikes over Vietnam and Laos.

The ship fired more than 6,500 of 5-inch ordnance at suspected and confirmed enemy targets. The Berkeley was responsible for repulsing an enemy

CARMELITOS UNION Tenants Urge Housing Officials to Quit Board

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

The Carmelitos Tenants Union called for resignation or dismissal of county housing commissioners Friday and ordered resumption of picketing today.

The union leaders declared that no settlement is possible in the six-month-old strike at the North Long Beach low-income housing project while the present commissioners hold office.

The commissioners are "the least qualified men imaginable for dealing with public housing tenants," said a spokesman.

He said the union will resume overt action against commissioners today, including picketing the businesses of commissioners.

That action ceased during two months of negotiations with housing officials, mediated by the county's human relations committee.

"Our proposals have been emasculated and our members have received no eviction notices," said Neal Freuden, a VISTA volunteer working with the union.

He said housing commissioners rejected "the most important parts" of the proposals — "those which gave tenants real power in decision making on evictions, leases and ratification of agreements with housing officials."

He said the proposals were accepted by Carmelitos officials, but then their superiors in the county commission rejected major clauses.

Freuden said families in 224 of the project's 712 units are participating in the rent strike. Some have been withholding rent payments since March 1. He charged that commissioners had broken an oral pledge to stop serving eviction notices during negotiations.

The union finally gave up on negotiations last week, Freuden said, when the mediators in the human relations commission suggested that attorneys of both sides handle the negotiations.

The attorneys have no power to reach a settlement, Freuden said.

Housing authorities claim that they have no proof the union represents the majority of Carmelitos tenants.

In a related development, the board of directors of the Long Beach Council of Churches voted unanimously to help seek a solution of the stalemate.

Working with the union and the North Long Beach Neighborhood Center, they plan a "Carmelitos Day" Aug. 23 to invite local congregations to view the project's problems.

Bid to Sail Made for Avalon

By JACK O. BALDWIN
Staff Writer

In a surprise move, operators of the new cruise ship GT Avalon Friday requested state authority to start immediate service between the mainland and Catalina Island.

Loudly protesting the petition tendered during a Public Utilities Commission hearing in Los Angeles were attorneys for two companies currently operating cross-channel surface craft from Long Beach and San Pedro to Avalon.

Edward M. Dillhoefer, president of GT Avalon, Inc., requested the PUC grant his company authority to start cross-channel service on an interim basis pending final action by the commission.

DILLHOEFER'S petition submitted by Attorney Karl K. Roos, contended:

"The public needs and requires service of the GT Avalon in cross-channel common carrier operations now. The boat is available and ready to serve the public now."

He said the public should not be denied use of the turbine-powered vessel during the anticipated "extended, prolonged and tedious hearings" currently being conducted by Kent Rogers, hearing examiner.

Attorney James Lyons, representing operators of the 2,200-passenger SS Catalina, claimed his client would be "denied due process of law" if the commission were to approve GT Avalon's request before the present hearing is completed.

As questioning of witnesses and cross-examination dragged on through the seventh day of hearings Friday afternoon it became evident the hearing would have to be continued.

The hearing is to be resumed Oct. 13, with three days set aside for additional

Suspension, Probation for Teen Dance Palace

By BARBARA FRYER
Staff Writer

The Marina Palace, charged with failure to properly supervise its Saturday night teen-ager dances in Seal Beach, Friday was ordered to suspend operations for two weeks and was placed on one year's probation.

Acting City Manager Dennis Courtemarche, who served as officer for the license renewal hearings, also ordered that the operator take three remedial actions as conditions of the year's probation.

Courtemarche's ruling came as the climax of a month-long controversy provoked by charges that the Marina Palace management permitted lewd conduct by patrons and the use of drugs and alcohol.

Its operators, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Robertson, were not available for comment after announcement of the ruling Friday. Before and during the hearings they had denied all of the charges.

The conditions imposed by Courtemarche Friday are:

EX-MANAGER BLASTED Seal Beach Mayor Hits 'Unclear' Budget

By BILL HOMER
Staff Writer

The manner in which a salary supplement for former Seal Beach City Manager Lee Risner was listed in the city's fiscal year 1970-71 budget drew the ire of Mayor Morton Baum Friday.

Baum, who has criticized the budget as often being ambiguous, reported Interim City Manager Dennis Courtemarche plans a more fully-documented budget for next year.

The mayor said that in addition to the salary supplement, which was listed in the city's basic financial document as a "reserve fund," prime targets of his budget criticism include:

- An item dealing with allocated purchase of police cars.
- The manner in which vehicle depreciation is dealt with.
- The listing of salaries without proper reflection of their actual amount after pay raises.

"To my mind the budget is not a clarified document," said Baum.

The budget allocates money for the purchase of seven police patrol cars and one "beach paddy wagon." Amount authorized for the autos is $2,700 each; $4,000 for the paddy wagon.

fleet salaries of the city's employees after pay raises, the budget does not.

"When a citizen finally gets his hands on a copy of the budget, therefore, he won't get a true picture of what the city's employees are being paid," Baum said.

The reserve fund, actually a "deferred compensation plan" for Risner, drew Baum's condemnation for the manner in which it was listed in the budget. (Risner and former City Attorney James Carnes were fired July 27.)

THE DEFERRED compensation plan first went into effect during fiscal year 1968-69, as called for by the service contract Risner had negotiated with the city.

A sum of $4,400 was deposited in bank time certificates during that year. The budgets for fiscal years 1969-70 and 1970-71 allocated $4,800 each to the plan for Risner, whose salary of about $20,000 yearly had risen to about $24,000 at the time he was fired.

At present, Risner's deferred compensation plan is valued at about $8,600.

The time certificates were deposited with various Seal Beach banks, grossing between five and 5½ per cent interest over a period usually lasting 90 days.

At maturity, the certificates were converted to cash, and the money, plus interest, was deposited in Risner's name with the city treasurer.

ALL-CITY FISHING RODEO Top Boy, Girl Anglers Crowned

By DONNELL CULPEPPER
Outdoor Editor

It was a tumultuous but happy Saturday morning at Belmont Pier, and when all the lines were untangled and more than 125 fish weighed, it was found that Ron Lisiewski, 15, 9712 Richelon, Downey and Kathy Ramsey, 11, 11365 E Walcott, Lakewood, were the boy and girl champions in the 16th annual renewal of the Kids' All-City Fishing Rodeo.

The annual rodeo attracted 546 youngsters under 16 who actually registered with the Long Beach Recreation Department, plus some who didn't, and many grown-ups, some who came to assist their small fry, others who fish on Belmont Pier every day even if storm warnings are out.

Ron won The Independent Press-Telegram trophy for the largest fish for boys — a bonito that weighed 5 pounds, 12 ounces. Ron was no amateur in the rodeo. He caught some other bonito that would have taken the cup.

Kathy didn't have anything except a sand bass that weighed only 12½ ounces, but that was heavy enough to take the I.P.T. Trophy for girls. Her 13-year-old brother, Greg, was along, but he didn't match even Kathy's fish, much less the one that Ron caught.

- That all portions of the dance hall to which teen-agers have access be well-lighted at all times.
- That a workable plan for determining the ages of those admitted be submitted to Police Chief Lee Case for his approval.
- That a minimum of three "conduct guards" — not including either Marina Palace licensee Mrs. Robertson or her husband — be on duty at all times and that one of these guards be a woman. Additional guards must be placed on duty if attendance rises.

The hearings, which had been ordered by recently deposed City Manager Lee Risner, began last Monday. Midway through Monday's hearing, Courtemarche interrupted Seal Beach undercover agent Tony Piazza's testimony of illicit sex and alcohol usage to ask that all persons under age of 18 leave the room.

On Thursday, Robertson took the stand and defended his conduct of the Marina Palace operation. Risner, rehired temporarily as city manager to assist Courtemarche in the conduct of the hearing, participated only sporadically.

Courtemarche said day his ruling was based on his own evaluation of conditions and that he had discounted the statements of Piazza and two other police officers who testified.

Courtemarche said Friday that the Palace has been operating since 1964 "with a minimum of complaints until a few months ago."

He added that "when you catch a cancer right away, chances are you can correct it. We'll find out in the next year if this can be done with Marina Palace."

FULLERTON STUDENTS EXPELLED FOR RIOT

Two students at California State College at Fullerton were expelled and six were suspended for one year for their roles in a disruption on the campus March 3.

College President William B. Langsdorf announced the actions Friday on the basis of hearings conducted by retired Judge Karl Lynn Davis of the Orange County Superior Court.

Langsdorf said the two students expelled Friday were ordered to stay off the campus for one year, two other students were given written reprimands and another was placed on probation for one semester.

Langsdorf said the two expelled students were identified in testimony before Judge Davis as leaders of the March 3 riot.

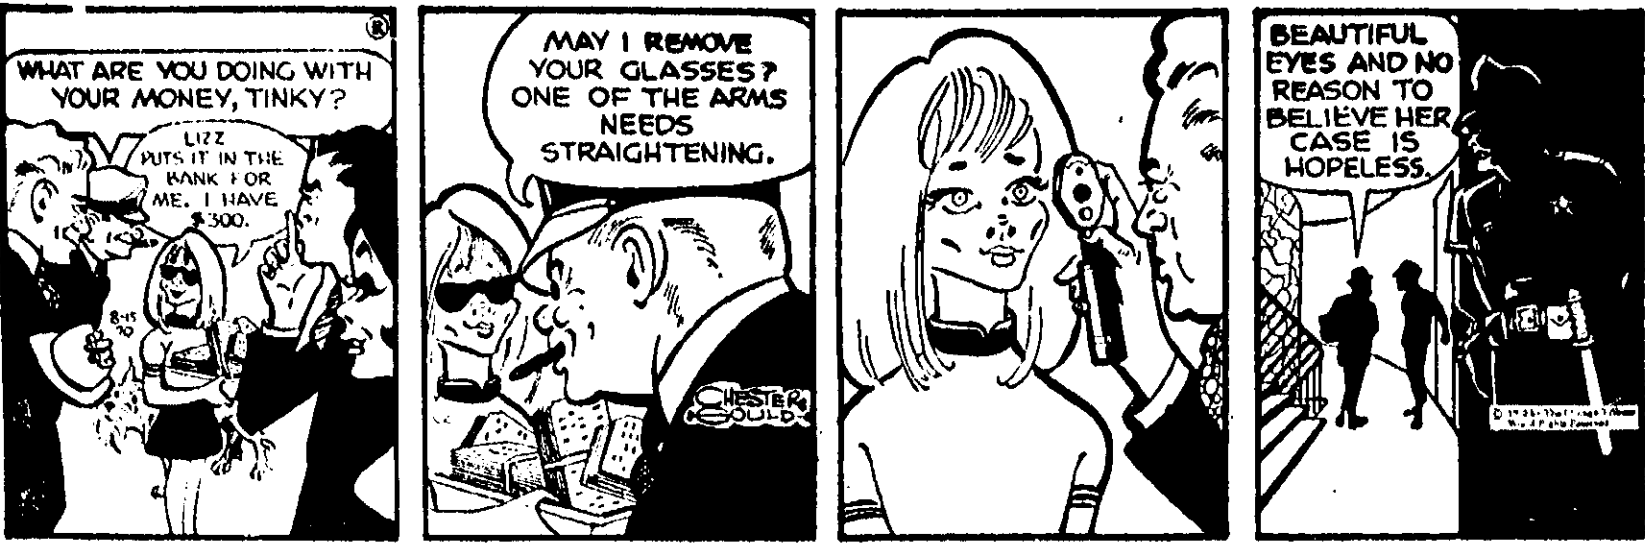

Fourteen other students are scheduled for hearings in the case later. Five of them previously were disciplined for other offenses on campus.

DENNIS THE MENACE

By Hank Ketchum

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Saturday

Your birthday today: Adjustment to sharp realities is featured in the year ahead. You must acquire some precision skill, so get started before you miss the chance. Emotional ties settle abruptly into strong bonds; your casual contacts may not remain superficial, natives are becoming more serious but somewhat unpredictable people, given to extremes ranging from violence to philosophic idealism, depending on early environment, social system.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Take it gently and easy. Resist the temptation of aggression and a rush to make up for lost time. Discretion is essential now.

TAURUS (March 21-April 19): You have impulses to make demands for changes, haste. Channel the energy constructively, thus avoiding conflict and accidents.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Use your own wit diplomatically with people, and do it sincerely. This gives you a better chance. To observe subtle and so heavily involved in what happens.

CANCER (June 21-July 20): Rely on your own resources for strength in your current program. People near you have qualities you never thought they had. Resolve to improve your own attitude.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): There is potential approval, indication of change. Take the most important, perhaps the most exciting, first and work out their solutions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): The stresses of the past week and your response. Abstinence from rash reactions brings you additional perspective.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Continue your cautious approach. Give thought to your property, particularly anything easily broken or portable. Simple precautions save loss, inconvenience.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Tempers lost today bring regret later—see that you are not thus involved. Expect various interruptions, prepare alternate uses of your energy.

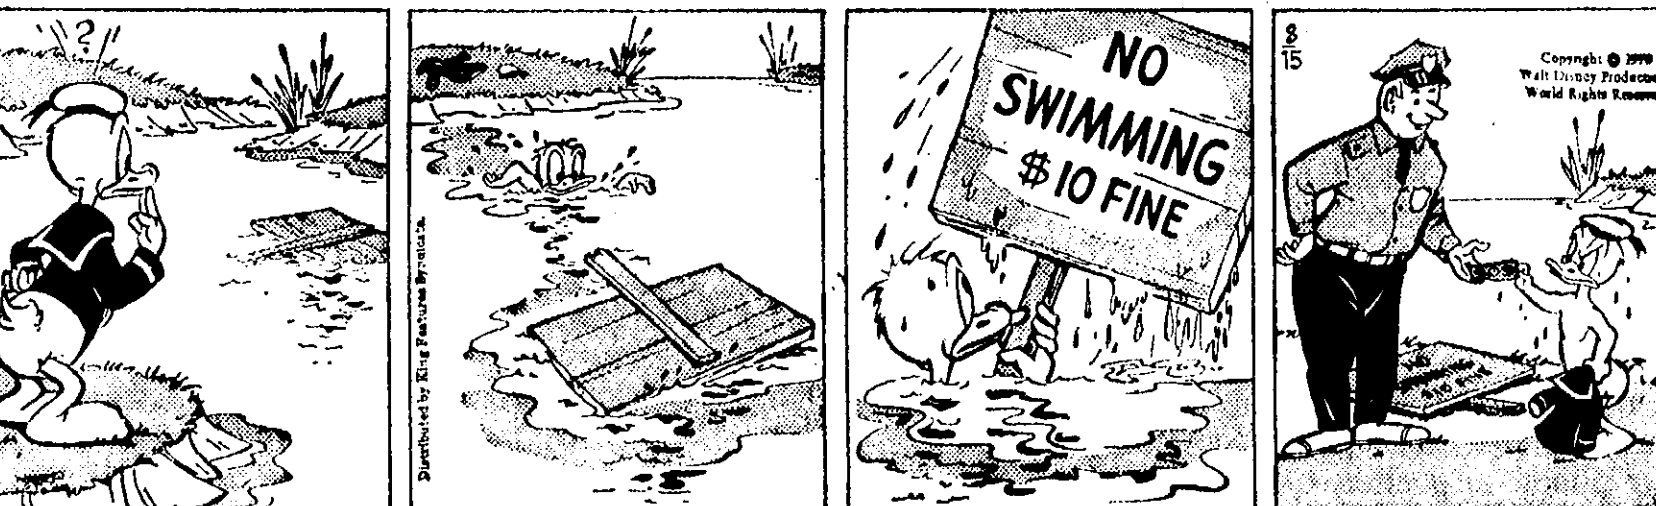

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Family, your friends may express strain, tensions in ways uncomfortable to you. Beware of them, and learn rather than squabble or worry.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Read your own stars. To be honest, you may be winning any argument, particularly an emotional one. However, it is almost as if you are prevailing over for a longer time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your chances are improved to the point where you may be winning any argument, particularly an emotional one. However, it is almost as if you are prevailing over for a longer time.

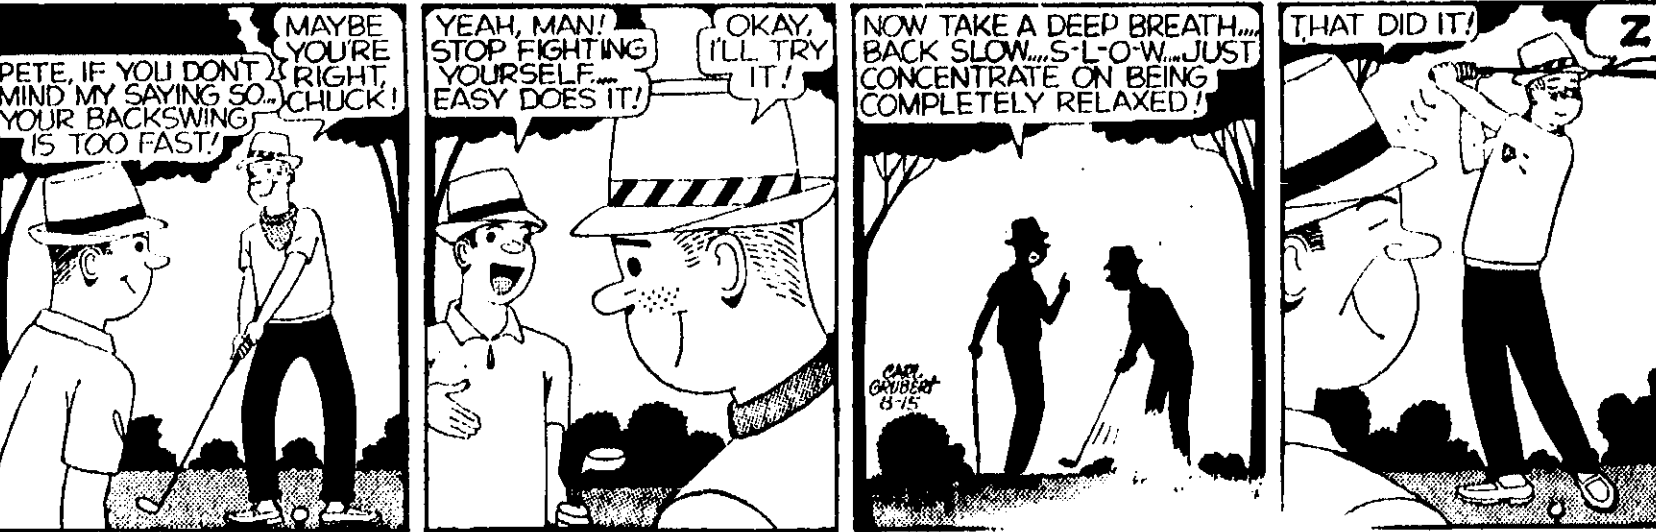

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Most stars fall short of perfection today, and some things just won't get done. Love and tranquility bring you a story that's not easy to learn.

LITTER DRIVE TRADE Lakewood Turns Bottles Into Trees

By HAL LOWE

Five weeks ago the Lakewood Recreation Department initiated an eight-week campaign to collect bottles and sell them to a recycling company to buy trees for Candle Verde Park.

A goal of 200,000 bottles was set, a second goal being improvement of the city's environment by keeping Lakewood's parks, streets, yards, and alleys bottle free. About 204,000 bottles have been collected to date and a new goal of 300,000 has been set for the campaign ending Sept. 4.

A FRIENDLY rivalry has sprung up between the city's parks to see who can collect the most bottles. The rivalry has been spurred by local businesses who have offered prizes to the youngsters who bring in the most bottles. One week a kid from Bloomfield Park brought in over 7,000 bottles and is now in contention for the grand prize — a new bicycle.

Jack Hutsinger, assistant superintendent for parks and recreation, said that Lakewood had started the bottle drive on a trial basis but is now considering making it an annual event.

Hutsinger noted that the director of Bloomfield Park reported that where clean-up crews had formerly checked the park for discarded bottles, the park is now virtually devoid of bottles.

Several stores in the area — in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce — have acted as small receiving stations. A local disposal firm has donated trucks to pick up the bottles and deliver them to the park collection stations where they are sorted and counted by the park directors.

City crews then haul them to the recycling plant in Huntington Park where the city is paid one half cent each or $20 per ton.

EACH YOUTH bringing 15 bottles to the parks is given a button which reads "I'm a Lakewood Glass-tronaut!" and made a

ANAHEIM POLICE ARREST 3 IN $6,000 NARCOTICS HAUL

Anaheim police Friday arrested three persons on suspicion of felony narcotics violations after confiscation of an estimated $6,000 in illicit drugs.

Officer Patrick Murphy said those arrested were: — Leslie Anderson, 27, 2630 West Lincoln Ave., Apt. 108, Anaheim.

— Brenda Lee Baxter, 23, 1332 West Fern Drive, Fullerton.

— Henry Don Hassler, 25, 737 Claudina St., Anaheim.

Murphy said that Anderson and Miss Baxter were arrested at the Lincoln Avenue address. Hassler was later arrested at his home.

al testimony and legal arguments.

Attorney John Lyons, (unrelated to James Lyons) representing Harbor Carriers, Inc., operators of two motor cruises between the Port of Long Beach and the island, labeled Dihoefer's petition as "a fantastic situation."

Examiner Kent said he had no knowledge of the PUC granting a certificate of operation on an interim basis. He said he would report Wednesday what action, if any, the commission might take on GT Avalon's petition.

Roos contended the commission may issue a certificate to a common carrier "with or without hearing." He cited several legal precedents.

James Lyons argued the financial success of the SS Catalina is dependent upon carrying peak passenger loads during the busy tourist season in August and early September.

He alleged competition from the 500-passenger vessel during the remaining 1970 tourist season could force the SS Catalina out of business.

Earlier during the hearing, Charley Stillwell, president of MGRS, Inc., operators of the SS Catalina, said the GT Avalon was needed only when the big steamer did not run. The steamer operates between the Catalina Terminal in San Pedro and Avalon from Memorial Day weekend to the last weekend in September.

HE ALSO contended if the GT Avalon were operated in competition to the SS Catalina during the four-month summer season it would force the big ship to cease operations.

Stillwell, frequently the center of waterfront controversies since he assumed management of the steamship 10 years ago, was cross-examined by Roos.

Stillwell testified he no longer held stock in any of the six companies involved in the steamer, parking lot, terminal, or concession operations. He said while he remains as president of MGRS, Inc., he has backed away from active management of the affiliated companies.

Stillwell, speaking softly and frequently with his eyes closed, requested two recesses, while testifying, to rest.

August Doldrums Give Pastors Time for Study and Meditation

By MARK CLUTTER
(for Vacationing Les Rodney)

Les Rodney, your religion editor, is on vacation, and I don't blame him. Being a religion editor in the month of August is almost like being ski editor. There isn't much action.

One pastor last Sunday said to the tiny band of faithful in what is usually a crowded church: "Thank you for coming to church in August. It's mighty nice of you."

Actually the summer doldrums are a blessing to clergymen. Some manage to go on vacation themselves. Others find more time for the reading and meditation so essential to their profession. Few people realize how hard these gentlemen work during most of the year. The seven-day week is not uncommon, and often the work day is 12 hours or more.

In addition to preaching, a clergyman must be something of a business administrator. His skill at raising funds and using them well often spells success or failure for a church. He must officiate at weddings, baptisms and funerals. He must, as near as possible, be a personal friend to hundreds. He must be a counselor with educated knowledge of how to help people in trouble. He must be a peacemaker, a mediator between the inevitable jarring factions of the people of God. He must be a civic leader participating in worthy community actions outside the church. He should be an intellectual and a poet. He should aspire to saintliness, and, when the times demand, he must raise his voice in the fearless thunder of prophecy.

Clearly no man alive can play all these roles perfectly. But church people should appreciate the excellent, sometimes heroic efforts of their pastors.

Those favoring the plan hold that chaplains would have a quieting, peace-making role in tense situations. They would also act as counselors in family rows. Those chaplains who wished to might also back the police physically. They would be trained in the use of the shotgun.

One of the strongest supporters is the Rev. Allen Newman, pastor of the First Baptist Church. He is a former Navy chaplain. "I think that we should see if a third force would work in the community," he said.

The leader of the opposition is the Rev. Richard C. Hall, pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church. "The proposal is directly opposed to the ideal of greater professionalism," he said. "I do not want to live in any community where any clergyman, minimally trained, acts as a quasi-police officer."

The Rev. Ted L. Brock, pastor of the United Methodist Church, says the proposal violates "the first principle of counseling." "The man you want to

MAY I HAVE A MOMENT OF YOUR TIME?

The dictionary defines happiness as "good luck," "good fortune," "prosperity," "a state of well being," "satisfaction," "bliss."

Quite frankly, these definitions leave a great deal to be desired. If, as Mr. Webster implies, happiness results from permanent relief from pain, freedom from care, the absence of even a speck of acquaintance with grief, then the hope of ever possessing it must be forgotten.

We know, you and I, that in every life at least a little rain must fall, and most of us have already experienced the thunder and lightning, the storms, Pain, heartbreak, disappointment, are impartial, if uninvited guests, in both palace and straw thatched hut.

The Scriptural definition is far different. Happiness is knowing God. His forgiveness. His fellowship. His Son as Saviour. Happiness is worship, service. Happiness is being what our heavenly Father wants us to be.

Sincerely,
Frank M. Kepner, Pastor

help comes to you. You can help him only if he wants you to," Brock said.

Should a chaplain in a moment of great stress use a gun? "I made up my mind that I would do the same thing I would do if a man entered my home and threatened my family. I would use the gun," Tierce said.

TWIN CIRCLE. The Catholic magazine which made news when it opposed the National Conference of Catholic Bishops Committee on Farm Labor for its support of Cesar Chavez and the grape workers, is seldom seen by non-Catholics. The new stories gave the impression of a bell-roaring radical right publication.

A bundle of Twin Circles came to this desk too late for more than a cursory glance. Without going into the Chavez controversy — I've always favored the man — I must report that Twin Circle is an excellent publication. It is professional journalism of a high order. The makeup is conservative but interesting. The language is used with artistry. It contains something for everybody — literature, sport, pieces for children, general philosophic problems, letters, etc., as well as theological and liturgical problems.

I intend to read it more carefully.

TOTAL PACIFISM. The Church of the Brethren, a historic peace church, in a recent action at a conference in Lincoln, Neb., went a step beyond the usual pacifist stance. It pledged its support to young men who choose "open noncooperation with the system of the draft as a conscientious objector." The church pledges legal counsel, financial support and prison visitation. It urges persons who choose noncooperation "to exhibit a spirit of humility, goodwill, and sincerity in making this type of courageous witness most effective, nonviolent, and Christian."

Pastors are urged to reject ministerial immunity. Laymen are urged not to work in war industries and to avoid as much as possible any support of military efforts.

PRAYER IN SCHOOLS? Many earnest Christians do not feel that something was lost when the Supreme Court ruled against prayers in public schools. Wayne E. Ward, professor of theology in Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, writes in the California Southern Baptist: "It is a sad day to see this most noble citadel of religious freedom in the whole history of nations being assaulted on every side by religious people themselves — including Baptists! To demand a law which requires or authorizes the saying of a 'prayer' in school is a blow at religious freedom just as much as a law (or interpretation of a law) which forbids the voluntary expression of prayer or worship."

THE ROLE OF WOMEN. When the American Lutheran Church meets in convention in San Antonio, Texas, next October it will consider the ordination of women. Some other churches have feminine clergy.

Historically, religion, like war, has been man's work. This is basically true, not only of Christianity but of all the high religions.

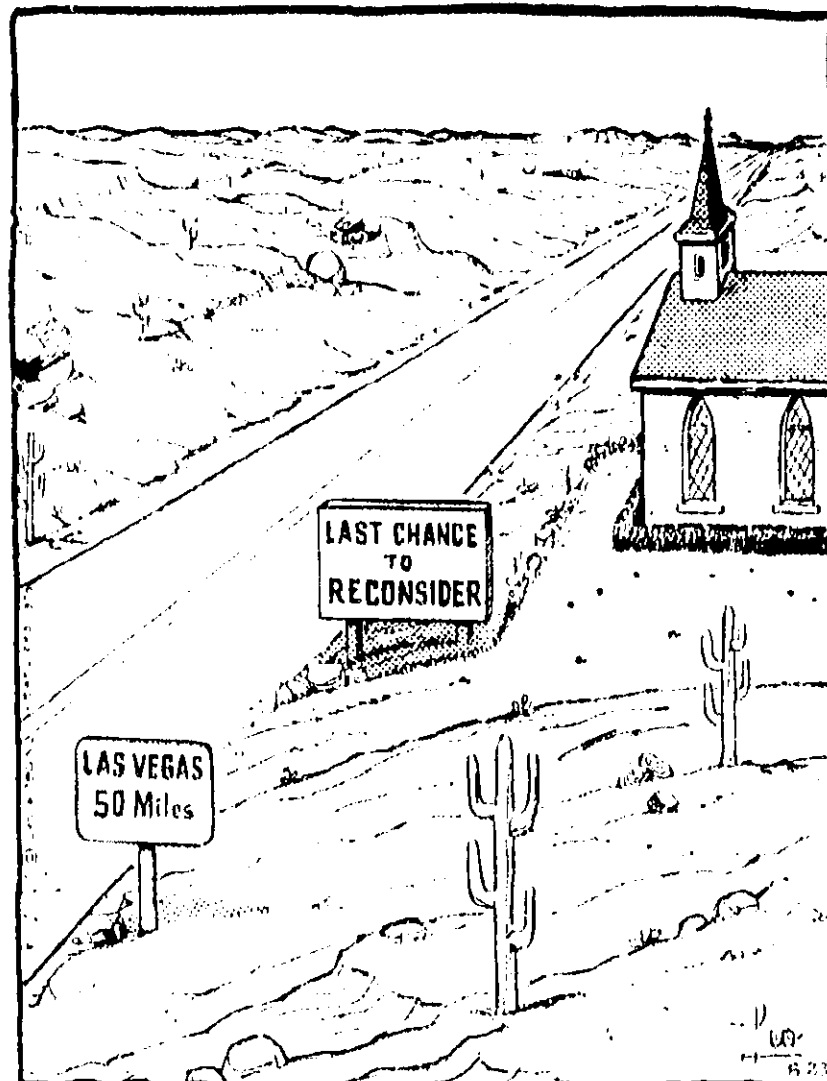

Bishops, pastors, even ushers are men. Women are considered wonderful for cooking church suppers.

And yet, there can be no doubt of their superior faith and devotion. Rare indeed is the church in which the women in the pews do not outnumber the men two to one. And many a wife strengthens her husband in times of wavering faith.

HELP FOR THE HELPLESS. What would you do if you found yourself suddenly destitute with a houseful of kids to support? Or released from prison with no hope of getting a job? Or elderly and dying of loneliness? Or facing other problems for which you could find no solution?

There are many organizations which will help if you know where to turn. One of them is the Volunteers of America. A simple listing of its projects tells the scope of its good works in the Los Angeles area: The Maud Booth Family Center; Verdugo Hacienda, a home for the elderly; Midway Center, residential treatment center for parolees; Family Counseling Services; the Parent-Child Center for low-income families; the Men's Service Center on Los Angeles Skid Row; the Sunset Clubs, recreation for the elderly; the Men's Rehabilitation Center, where beaten men strive to build new lives by repairing and selling furniture.

Presbyterian Women to Convene in Azusa

AZUSA — United Presbyterian women from 265 Southland churches will gather Sunday on the campus of Azusa Pacific College, Highway 66 at Citrus Ave., for the annual conference of the Southern California Synodical Association.

Mrs. Donald B. Dyer, Synodical president and a ruling elder of Whittier Presbyterian Church, will preside at the five-day meeting, which is expected to attract around 500 women from San Luis Obispo County in the north to the Mexican border.

Among the guest speakers will be the Rev. Patricia B. Kepler, of Philadelphia, secretary of the Women's Department of the United Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, whose subject will be "The Status of Women in Society" and in the Church.

Miss Elizabeth J. Manuel, San Francisco, the Board's western area secretary for women's work, will conduct the officers' training classes.

Mrs. Ralph B. (Lois) Slair, Eau Claire, Wis., second vice chairman of the Consultation on Church Union, will speak on the proposal that would bring together nine Protestant denominations into a 25-million-member United Church of Christ, now under study by the churches.

The Rev. Dr. Gordon A. MacInnes, pastor of Shadow Hills Presbyterian Church, Sunland, will conduct a daily convocation, developed through dialogue and utilizing the theme "What Time Is It Now?"

Among the subjects to be considered in seminars and discussion groups are the following, with leadership from local church women and Southland pastors:

Motion and Liturgy: The Rev. Mikel B. Taxer, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, San Diego.

Personal Growth: The Rev. Arthur E. French III, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Gardena.

Strike Hunger: Share Bread: Mrs. Guy W. (Virginia) Hamilton, vice moderator of the Synod of Southern California and a ruling elder of First Presbyterian Church, Monrovia.

How to Invest Self: Mrs. Thomas W. (Lucky) Phelps, immediate past president of the Southern California Synodical Association and ruling elder of First Presbyterian Church, Colton.

To Understand Jesus, Read Gospels, Says Bible Scholar

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

What was Jesus really like? What is the distinctive character of the way of life he commended to men by precept and example?

Thousands of books have been written in answer to those questions. Most are pretty bad. A few are fairly good. A very, very few are magnificent.

In the latter category is a small, inexpensive paperback published recently by Macmillan. It is entitled, "The Founder of Christianity." The author is Prof. F. H. Dodd of Cambridge University, who directed the translation of the New English Bible, and who is regarded by many as the world's foremost New Testament scholar.

In this little book, Dodd has used his enormous erudition the way it should be used: To make deep things clear and easy to understand.

Lesser scholars have argued for years over which parts of the Gospels may be regarded as actual sayings of Jesus and which parts may be interpretations or interpolations by the early church. Dodd cuts straight through this maze of quibbling to answer the one question of urgent importance to the confused layman who is wondering whether the New Testament presents an authentic picture of a real person and his teachings.

His answer is an unqualified yes.

"The Gospels, Dodd says, 'offer a body of sayings on the whole so consistent, so coherent, and withal so distinctive in manner, style, content, that no reasonable critic should doubt, whatever reservations he may have about individual sayings, that we find reflected here the thought of a single, unique teacher."

The distinctive "style of Jesus, reflected in his record teachings, is 'crisp, pungent, often allusive, even cryptic, laden with irony and paradox,' he says. It betrays 'a mind whose processes were swift and direct, hitting the nail on the head without waste of words.' Jesus's sayings made clear that he had a keen sense of humor, a love of nature, and a poetic imagination.

The narrative portions of the Gospels reveal other pronounced personality traits. Jesus's relations with people were invariably characterized by a 'sensitive response' to their needs. 'He was drawn to those who were sick in mind or body, because they needed help that he could give.' And he displayed particular compassion for 'those who labored under a disabling sense of guilt.'

For all of his kindness, Jesus "could be a formidable person to encounter." He had "some indefinable personal quality" which caused men to look up to him in respect and sometimes awe, as one who "spoke with authority." He could be very severe in his dealings with the two types of people for whom he had the greatest scorn — pious hypocrites and oppressors of the poor.

Dodd suggests that the key to all Jesus's teaching is found in the Lord's Prayer, where he instructed his disciples to address God as "father." The Aramaic word Jesus used was "Aba," and it was "the intimate mode of address from child to father in the Jewish family" comparable to "Dad" or "Pop" in a contemporary family. The petitions of the Lord's Prayer are consistent with the form of address: They are "the appeal of children to a father, simple, direct and confident."

Calvary Baptist to Hold 10 Meetings on Patriotism

Calvary Baptist Church, 5722 Lime Ave., North Long Beach is holding a series of ten meetings August 17 through August 28 (Monday through Friday, 7:15 p.m., for two weeks) on the subject "My Country Under God."

These meetings are not in any way conflicting with the idea of separation of church and state, but are designed to convey the truths of the requisites for good citizenship. We believe that the solution to the problem of human malbehavior is found in the gospel of Jesus Christ as revealed in the Bible or Holy Scriptures.

These meetings will take the form of a lay seminar with films and speakers whose vocations are related to the theme along with an exposition and study of God's Word on such premises as:

—Civil government is ordained of God.

—Rulers are servants not only to the people but of the Almighty God.

—Obedience to law is necessary for any system to work.

—God fearing people respect the laws of the land.

We should not speak evil of rulers of our country, and many others, along with simple explanations of the operation of our own government, democratic processes, etc.

The meetings will attempt to reach those people who are genuinely concerned about the current conditions in our country, and those who, because of frustration resulting from seeming inability to correct the situation, either become apathetic or resort to conduct unbecoming a citizen.

CONFIDENT LIVING

You Can Have Power in Crisis

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

If you don't think you can have power in a crisis read this story

At a Chinese dinner in Taipei, Taiwan, I met an old friend, Gladys Aylward, a diminutive lady. I noticed that, while seated, her feet didn't even touch the floor. She was dressed in Chinese costume, but she is British, quite British. Born in the Cockney section of London to a poor family, she worked as a maid in the home of a wealthy man.

One day in London, she came upon a Salvation Army street meeting. Attracted by the music, she stopped and listened to the message of the speaker. For some reason she decided right then and there to become a missionary. But how could a poor, uneducated girl accomplish that objective?

Her employer, who had a splendid library on China, found her reading and reproached her. "I hired you to dust and clean, not to read my books," he said.

"But, sir," she said, "I am so interested in China. Please let me read your books."

"Very well, but not until you get the housework done," he replied.

She continued to read until she became a sort of living encyclopedia on China. And then she felt the compulsion to become a missionary to China. She applied to the Mission Board, whose officials were highly intellectualized ecclesiastics. They gave this sincere girl an educational test which she could not pass. "You do not measure up to our standards; sorry, you can't go," they said.

But did that faze her? Not at all. She saved her money shilling by shilling, and finally went out to China on her own. She began to speak in the streets of Nanking and Peking. So remarkable was the career of Gladys Aylward that, years later, a motion picture was made of it called, "Inn of the Sixth Happiness." And it was a hit picture.

This little Gladys Aylward, a personality filled with concentrated power, told me about how she spoke in the streets, telling the people that no power on earth could overcome the believer, that God was always with him.

This type of speaking went on week after week in many Chinese cities. And it finally put her to the most dramatic test of her life.

One day the governor called her to come and said, "We have a terrible situation. There is a riot in the prison. Murderers and vicious men have overcome the guards and are running amuck. We can't go in; they will kill the guards if we try to enter. And one of the worst criminals in the prison had gone completely berserk. He is wielding a huge meat cleaver and has already killed two men and terrified everyone. I know you, for I have heard you speak. You have a God who gives all power. Please go in and disarm that man."

"You must be out of your mind, sir," she said, aghast.

"But I have listened to you in the street telling that your God is always with you."

"But, Excellency, you misunderstand."

"Oh, then you have not been telling the truth. I only know what I heard you say, and I believed you."

She realized then that if she ever wanted to speak again to the Chinese people she would have to go into that prison and demonstrate her belief.

Gladys Aylward walked to the end of the tunnel, was admitted to the prison yard, the gate being quickly locked behind her. She saw the mad man, the meat cleaver dripping with blood, chasing another prisoner. Suddenly, he was in front of her. He stopped short, amazed. They stood facing one another — the little woman and the incensed giant.

She looked into his wild and feverish eyes, then calmly said, "Give me that weapon." He hesitated for a moment, and then meekly handed the meat cleaver to her. She told the prisoners she would plead for clemency if they would surrender. And they did. Later, she received a just settlement of their grievances with the governor.

First Baptist, Lakewood to Hear The Swordsmen

The Swordsmen will be giving a concert at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church of Lakewood, 5336 Arbor Road.

Coming with a style of music which is refresh-ly contemporary, these recording artists promise a different musical experience. Over the last 11 years they have sung their way into the hearts and homes of thousands of young people and adults. Their albums include "The Gospel Folk Sing" which was a pioneer in the gospel-folk style back in 1963. "Walking in This World" released in 1966, and "Walking in God's Country" just completed featuring gospel-folk-rock stylings enjoyable for all ages yet clearly presenting God's plan of salvation for man.

Chuck Rogers, the manager, sings first tenor and plays the banjo. As minister of education he coordinates the educational and musical ministries at the Memorial Baptist Church, Fresno.

Lynn Nordeen, the second tenor, resides in La Canada. Lynn not only plays the six and 12 string guitars, but also does much of the arranging and writing of music for the group. Lynn is the sales manager for Clary Corporation in Los Angeles.

John Tillman, the baritone, is the most recent addition to the Swordsmen. Residing in La Crescenta he is employed by Johnstons Foods as a sales representative. John adds rhythmic accompaniment to the group with the tambourine.

Joe Byrne, who along with Chuck began singing with the Swordsmen in 1959 when the group began at Westmont College, sings and plays the bass. Joe is Minister of Music at the First Baptist Church in Reseda.

Paul Mickelson has said, "I would heartily recommend the Swordsmen. I know of no other group of young men that have the dedication, purpose in life, and musical artistry in the Folk-Sacred field than these have."

Ralph Carmichael pointed out recently, "The music of the Swordsmen is part of 'now.' It is the kind of music people are listening to. I would recommend that the Swordsmen be included in every musical schedule."

Church history, Anglicanism, and the history of the Episcopal Church in America, will be incorporated into the STC collection.

Also to be housed at the STC library will be a rare and beautiful copy of the second edition of the Bishops' Bible, (printed in 1572), and a number of archaeological artifacts and an extensive prayer book collection.

In addition to the advantages extended to Bloy House by moving to a major theological center, the School of Theology also will reap several gains, including further instructional depth. Canon Molnar is a distinguished Episcopalian liturgist, and as an expert in ecumenical theology, has been involved in the Consultation on Church Union (COCU).

Dr. Geoffrey W. Bromiley, professor of church history at Fuller Theological Seminary, is also part of the Bloy House team. He is a translator of various volumes of Barth's "Church Dogmatics," and is translating Kittel's "Theologisches Worterbuch zum Neuen Testament" into English.

Dr. George W. Morrel, a systematic theologian and also a specialist in Anglican church history, is a leading Episcopal expert in Russian Orthodox theology.

The school began in 1958 as the extension of the Church Divinity School of the Pacific and was established as Bloy House in 1962 by the Rt. Rev. Francis Eric Bloy, the Episcopal bishop of Los Angeles.

Episcopal School Moves to Claremont

Bloy House Theological School, an Episcopal theological seminary now in Pasadena, is moving its headquarters this summer to the School of Theology at Claremont's campus, adding another denomination to the STC ecumenical group.

Bloy House, headed by The Rev. Canon Enrico C.S. Molnar, the school's warden, is designed to serve those who have made a delayed decision to enter the diaconate or priesthood of the Episcopal Church, or for men who wish to prepare themselves for part-time or "worker priesthood."

The school holds classes only on weekends which allows its students to continue full time in their current occupations.

The four-year program at Bloy House is the equivalent of two years of full time seminary study. The third year for the Bachelor of Divinity degree or its equivalent has been completed at other seminaries, including STC.

The decision to move was prompted in part by a desire by Bloy House for more extensive ecumenical cooperation, a desire which is shared by the School of Theology at Claremont.

Both schools are augmented by the move: The STC library, containing about 110,000 volumes at present, represents a major theological library and is available to Bloy House students. In return, the Bloy House library, consisting of some 5,000 works with specialized strengths in such areas as English

GOINGS ON

A Summer Day Camp is planned in Carmelitos August 17-21 from 9:30 a.m.-12 p.m. Mrs. Richard Gonzales, of Christ Lutheran Church, 6500 Stearns St., is the organizer and director. Other churches involved in the program are Community Presbyterian, Bethany Lutheran, Bethel Lutheran, Holy Spirit Lutheran, First Lutheran. However, much more help is needed to make the Day Camp a success. More information may be obtained by calling Christ Lutheran church office.

The Lakewood Christian Pre-School will open as a new service of the First Christian Church of Lakewood. The Pre-School's main objective is to provide a happy, creative and Christian environment for the child. There will be an open house to day from 11:00 a.m. until 2:00 in the afternoon. The Pre-School will be open from 7:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. five days a week.

The Rev. Lee Robbins, evangelist tenor soloist and recording artist — will be featured in a special musical service 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 19 at Calvary Assembly of God, 235th and Oak Streets (two blocks north of Pacific Coast Highway near Narbonne Avenue), Lomita.

A dramatic new color film relating the involvement of a young minister in the lives of inner-city tenants will be shown at "Service Under the Stars," 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the drive-in area of El Dorado Park Community Church, 3655 Norwalk Blvd., Long Beach.

"The Sound Generation," famed collegiate singing group, will be featured Aug. 29, at the Armed Forces Chapel, 1000 S. Main St., Long Beach. Titled "The Heart Cannot Run" and filmed in Chicago, it is a triumphant story of victory through Jesus Christ. Nursery care will be available.

Services Y.M.C.A. The show will begin at 8:00 p.m. on the south lawn.

"Faith in God and Love of Country." In a rather tumultuous time of change and dissent, the 28 young men and women of John Brown University's highly rated musical "Sound Generation" are spending the summer in the Southland making various personal appearances.

Tom Ming, evangelist, will open a revival Wednesday at the Guiding Light Tabernacle, 12061 Del Amo Blvd., Cerritos. It will continue for ten days, skipping Monday and Saturday. The time is 7:30 p.m. The Rev. Floyd Osborne is the pastor.

Rev. Hoover Wong, candidate for the ministry of True Light, P.N.C. of Los Angeles, will be replacement pastor at Westminster Community Presbyterian Church on Sunday.

LDS Elder Boyd Packer To Speak Here

Elder Boyd K. Packer, a member of the Council of Twelve of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will speak at the Long Beach Stake (diocese) Conference Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 22 and 23, in Long Beach.

Elder Packer, an educator, has been an Air Force pilot and a city commissioner. He holds a doctorate in educational administration from Brigham Young University, and was formerly president of the New England Mission. Elder Packer at one time was supervisor of Church seminaries and institutes, and also worked extensively in Indian education. He is on the Administrative Council of Brigham Young University.

The Conference session will be held Sunday at 10 a.m. at 37th and Elm Street. Stake President Francis M. Zimmerman, 1576 Elm Ave., Apt. 5, says visitors are welcome.

As usual, there was a bit of everything caught — even an octopus and a startfish.

Of more importance was the trophy presented to Greg Stevenson, 14, a boy who has astounded the Recreation Department this year with his enthusiasm for fishing — not just his own, but his encouragement of others. He rode his bicycle everywhere and, like Paul Revere, called for the kids to go fishing and have fun.

For that, Greg, who lives at 2402 Dollar St., Lakewood, won the Howard (Pat) Tannehill Trophy, a beautiful prize given by Lu and Glenn Dinsmore, who were close friends of Pat Tannehill.

The Belmont Pier Trophy, given by June Ascole, was won by Kent Van Sooy, 13, of 5822 Barbanell, Long Beach, for being the most skillful angler among the Tackle Busters, an organization sponsored throughout the summer by the Recreation Department.

The Southern California Tuna Club, which helps the Recreation Department rodeo, had members present throughout the morning to help the youngsters with their fishing problems, mostly tangled lines. Don Billings was chairman of that group and he presented individual trophies to the following for their catches:

St. Anthony Flea Market This Sunday

A back-to-school Flea Market will be in operation at St. Anthony's High school field, Del Amo Boulevard and Clark Street, Lakewood, from 8 a.m. through 4 p.m. Sunday.

It will mark the 14th monthly staging of the benefit event which to date has provided more than $10,000 for the financially troubled school, said chairman Ken Derryberry.

Clothes, books, binders and art supplies will be available in addition to the regular offerings of TV and tape sets, record albums, jewelry, antiques, cameras, clocks and odds and ends, Derryberry said.

Spaces rented to sellers provide a portion of the St. Anthony revenue which is also comprised of admission fees and profits from food sales, the chairman explained.

Need for increased funds at the parochial school stems from a shortage of private benefactors and rising costs.

GABRIEL, MORTON PIT QB TALENTS TONIGHT

Rams 3-Point Choice Over Dallas

By AL LARSON
Staff Writer

The NFL's little universe hasn't changed—the experts are tabbing the Rams and Dallas to meet Jan. 3 for the National Conference championship.

A preview of that confrontation takes place tonight at the Coliseum when quarterbacks Roman Gabriel and Craig Morton pit their passing talents in hopes of picking each other's defenses apart in a pre-season test starting at 8:05. A crowd of 60,000 is expected to see if the experts know their business.

Both NFL clubs were successful in their initial outings. The Rams limited Cleveland to 20 net yards rushing in a 30-17 victory last week, while the Cowboys rushed for 228 yards in defeating San Diego 20-10.

Against the Browns, coach George Allen substituted freely, but for this second game, he said the starters will remain on the field for a longer period.

"We'll try to get our new fellows in as much as possible," said Allen. "But we also want to win the game."

Dallas fell to the Rams three times last season—24-17 in exhibition play, 24-23 in the regular season and 31-0 in the Miami Playoff Bowl. The Rams hold a 7-3 lead in the pre-season series.

This partly explains why the Rams are cast as 3-point favorites.

The Cowboys, who figure to have little trouble winning the five-team Eastern Division of the NFL, comprising the New York Giants, Washington, Philadelphia and St. Louis, already have made some changes for 1970.

All-pro tackle Ralph Neely has been moved to right guard where John Wilbur, retired, Rayfield Wright took over Neely's former spot, which means that Wright will be matched against Deacon Jones with Neely opposing Merlin Olsen tonight. Wright boasts that he handled Jones easily last year.

rookie Cliff Harris, a free agent from Ouachita Baptist U. in Arkansas, will start at free safety.

Allen will have his first look at Kermit Alexander in Ram livery, the corner defenceman acquired in trade from the 49ers in exchange for kicker Bruce Gossett.

Offensively, the Cowboys have Bob Hayes and Lance Rentzel heading the pass catchers. However, it was on the ground where Tom Landry's Cowpokes shined in 1969. Rookie of the year Calvin Hill was the league's second leading rusher with 942 yards while the other running back, Walt Garrison, gained 818 yards to rank sixth in the NFL.

All-pro tackle Bob Lilly anchors a defensive line that recorded 55 sacks on opposing QBs last year, the most in the NFL. The Rams were second with 50.

Rookie John Walton, the MVP in the Continental League at Indianapolis last year, will run the Ram attack in the second quarter. Karl Sweetland and Gary Lane were used as Gabriel's backup quarterbacks last week.

Allen announced three more rule changes, leaving five men still in limbo. Rookie receiver Eli Smith, the Vietnam vet from Grambling, left and Mel Jones of Florida A&M and punter Donnie Gibbs from TCU were released. Jack Pardee, who calls defensive plays, pointed out that Cowboys' backup quarterback Roger Staubach differs from Fran Tarkenton in his scrambling technique. "Roger scrambles on the middle while Tarkenton likes to run to the outside." Pardee talked with Eddie Meador early this week, but "Eddie said he's still not planning to return to football. However, he did give me a couple of tips on Dallas. He watched them play San Diego on TV last week and," said Pardee,

"Roger Brown, trying to eat his way out of football, scored 330 at his latest weigh-in. He's lost only four pounds since reporting to Fullerton eight days ago."

Jimmy Thomas, who will start in place of injured Larry Smith for the Rams, lists four disadvantages playing in Canada: colder weather; three timeouts instead of four; playing both of offense and defense "out of necessity" and fewer time outs. "Remember, the field up there is 110 yards long and 65 yards wide."

Ben Aspinall has been working with Dallas' kickers this summer while his on Larry Aspinall, former Wilson High and UCLA performer, is playing behind Green Bay's Rich Lewis at the inside, right tackle. The Cowboys' backup, Larry Rasmussen, Tennessee transfer, Steve Kiner, Dallas' No. 1 outside tackle, backer.

SALTA MEETS CONNIE MACK ALL-STARS

Salta Pontiac will send Bruce Cooke to the mound at 2:30 this afternoon against Gordy Cathro's Coast Connie Mack All-Stars in a Blair Field encounter.

Hurling for the All-Stars will be Russ McQueen (Belmont Savers), Mike Young (Mary Star-San Pedro), and Ron Abney (Norwalk).

Other All-Stars include Willie Moore, Kim Hannaford, and Clint Myers of the Savers; Gary Brewsbaugh, Jerry Pitts, and Doug Matter (Johnson Sawdust); Stu Smith and Russ Johnson (Bickel Braves); and Bob Thornton and Paul Pettit Jr. of San Pedro.

One More Slam and Player Will Be a Former Player

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Gary Player has started talking about putting away his clubs.

He'd like to take care of three things first, though, and he can do one of them right here in the PGA Championship this weekend.

The 34-year-old little South African, who fired a two-under-par 68 Friday to move within two shots of the lead, already has won golf's four big ones — the U.S. Open, the Masters, the British Open and the PGA, but he wants to do it twice before retiring.

"That's my ambition before I hang 'em up," Player said after Friday's second round. "I've won the British Open twice and the U.S. Open, the Masters and the PGA once. I don't think people realize how close I've been. I've been runnerup twice in this tournament — the PGA — and I've also finished second in the other three events."

Player said he was racing Jack Nicklaus for the distinction of being the first man to accomplish the so-called professional grand slam twice. Nicklaus has won the Masters three times, the U.S. Open and the British open twice and the PGA once.

"I think he's gonna beat me to it," Player said. "I say that because I've been so close and I didn't make it."

"It's not possible for a man to practice any harder than I have," he said, "unless he practices under floodlights. You can never get too much practice. I'm going out to practice some more right now."

In the 100-degree heat?

"Why not?" Player said. "Don't forget I'm only 34. You shouldn't feel the heat at that age if you're in good shape, and I'm in good shape."

Then he was off to practice some more.

"I enjoy practicing," he said. "It's exercise and I love it."

Somebody wanted to know how much time he averaged practicing each day before he arrived here. He thought a moment and said:

"All day. That was the average."

LONG BEACH VET FIRST AT ONTARIO

Larry Biscaglia returned to his favorite spot, but it was halfway across the nation Friday.

The 72-year-old retired automobile and tire dealer from Long Beach, drove his camper into the No. 1 spot in line for the California 500-mile auto race at Ontario scheduled Sept. 6.

For the past 22 years he's been at the head of the line at Indianapolis for the 500-miler on Memorial Day there.

This is his first time at Ontario, since the Sept. 6 event opens the championship program at the $25.5 million track.

Smith and Gorman Gain; Pancho Wilts

Combined News Services

Stan Smith of Pasadena rallied to defeat Australian Ray Ruffels and Tom Gorman upset Clark Graebner in the first round of the $12,000 Buckeye Tennis Championships Friday at Columbus, Ohio.

Smith and Gorman will meet in one of today's semi-finals matches.

In the other semi match, sixth-ranked Bob Lutz of Los Angeles plays second-rated Arthur Ashe.

England's Roger Taylor, whose most recent claim to fame has been a stunning quarter-final upset over Rod Laver at Wimbledon, Friday night defeated a wilting Pancho Gonzales 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, to nals of the $23,200 Canadian advance into the semi-final open at Toronto.

putts of 7, 6, 2 and 6 feet to do it.

Player said the afternoon heat did not bother him, but nevertheless he missed five greens on the back nine, three-putted once and missed two putts inside of six feet and had to settle for a two-under-par 68 — which tied a round by Lou Graham as lowest of the day.

Casper got in early with his 142, on a suddenly warm putter that could mean a big difference later in the tournament. He ran in birdie putts of 20, 25, 15 and 4 feet, but he also had trouble with his driver and made four bogeys to give him a 70.

The three 141 shooters — Irwin, Rudolph and Hill — played in the hottest part of the day. Irwin fired a 69, one of the day's five sub-par rounds, to go with his 72 of Thursday. Rudolph and Hill had 70s to combine with first-round 72s.

Among those missing the cut were U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin (153), and Gay Brewer, Bob Goalby, Tom Weiskopf, Miller Barber, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Lionel Hebert.

Jr. High Boys Invited to Tackle Signups

Any Long Beach boys entering or already in junior high school are invited to sign up for the tackle football program of the L.B. Football League today at 1 p.m. at the high school nearest their home.

The league, in its 22nd year, has been expanded to eight teams in the 'A' Division (130 pounds and up) this fall with the addition of Downey, Venice and Carson.

Boys must weigh at least 100 pounds in uniform to compete in the 'B' Division. All equipment except shoes will be furnished, and a medical exam is required. Signups will also be held Aug. 22.

READY FOR RECORD RUNS

Blown fuel hydroplanes, capable of speeds near 200 miles per hour, will be competing in annual Western Regionals for drag boats this weekend at Marine Stadium. Current record holder, Mr. Ed., a Chrysler-powered Sanger craft, will defend against big field.

FESTIVAL OF SPEED TODAY

Many of the country's fastest boats will be competing today and Sunday when the National Drag Boat Assn. stages its Western Regional championships in conjunction with the California International Sea Festival at Marine Stadium.

Today's tuning and racing starts at 10 a.m., with gas and jet eliminators going at 1:30 p.m. Adult tickets are $2. Sunday's racing is from 12 noon to 5 p.m., with tickets priced at $3.

Inglewood's Tommy Robbins will be shooting for a world record in his Double-0-8 blown gas flatbottom after several close tries at Mike Masino's record 125.87 miles per hour.

Masino, only 20 years old and holder of the world blown gas and unblown gas flatbottom records, is scheduled to drive. He will try for the unblown fuel mark of 124.90 mph held currently by Mike Donnell of Orange.

Mike is one-half of the Masino duo in flatbottom racing. Del Masino, Mike's father, is a driver of considerable skills and owner of hot boats Playmate and Holy Smokes, both Hondos with 427 Chevy engines.

Retire? Not Leo: New Pact

CHICAGO (AP) — Leo Durocher, still colorful and controversial at 64, was given a note of confidence by owner Phil Wrigley Friday in the form of a 1971 contract to continue managing the Chicago Cubs.

Terms were not disclosed.

At the same time, Durocher hired an old buddy and one of his former New York Giant coaches, Herman Franks, former San Francisco Giant manager, as a Cub coach. Franks replaces Joe Becker, who collapsed with heart trouble at Wrigley Field Wednesday.

"Yes, you could say this was a vote of confidence," Wrigley told The Associated Press. "I think Leo has done an excellent job."

Durocher, after a 10-year managerial hiatus, was hired by Wrigley to take over the downtrodden Cubs in 1966.

In 1967, Durocher perked the Bruins to a first division finish for the first time in 20 years, taking third. That year, Leo's contract was extended through 1969 and in January, 1969, Wrigley signed Durocher through 1970.

As ever, Leo was not at loss for words, asserting: "It's great to be invited back by Mr. Wrigley and John Holland general manager. Simply marvelous. This is some kind of organization."

"To me contracts don't mean anything. People want you or they don't want you. I've worked for some great organizations. I never worked for a bad one. It's just that some are better than others and this happens to be a great one."

Asked if, reaching the working man's normal retirement age of 65, he might quit after next season, Leo snapped:

"Retirement? I've given that subject no consideration."

LARRY McATEE
Faces Navy Win

SENIORS TO MANCHESTER McAtee Captures Service Golf Title

Gordon Manchester of Arnold Air Force Base fired a record-tying 69 Friday to capture the senior division of the Inter Service Golf Tournament at Los Alamitos Naval Station.

Larry McAtee of Naval Air Station, Oceana, Va., won the open category by 10 strokes to pace the Navy to an easy victory in team scoring.

Tex Ireland, who shot a 69 in Thursday's round, suffered through an 82 as Manchester picked up 13 strokes in the final round, winning 292 to 301.

McAtee, winner of the all-Navy Golf Tournament, will seek further laurels as he competes in the U.S. Amateur later this month.

Air Force, with three men among the first five finishers, whipped the Navy by nine strokes in senior team play.

Sheheen is one of softball's top students. He has his own book on every batter in the game.

Cocher Clint Herron will serve as Hawks' skipper, as manager Red Meairs will be in Yountville with the Rockets' Legion Post in their quest for a state title Herron can call on Sherm McInnis, Art Bunge, Johnny Haagsma and possibly George Pearson to do the pitching.

Frank Trejo, who led the Western Softball Congress with a .343 average in 1965, is back in Southern California and will be seen at 4 p.m. performing for the Huntington Park Eagles as they face Mission Raiders of Hemet in the top loser's bracket game of the day.

Stacy, Aulisi Gain Finals of Jr. Girls Golf

RYE, N.Y. (UPI) — Defending champion Hollis Stacy of Savannah, Ga., and Janet Aulisi of West Caldwell, N.J., won their matches on the final holes Friday to gain today's final of the U.S. Junior Girls' golf championship.

The 16-year-old Miss Stacy, who became the youngest girl ever to win this tournament last year at Dallas, defeated Elizabeth Pooley of Gainesville, Fla., two-up, and Miss Aulisi, who is 15, upset Mary Budke of Dayton, Ore., on the 19th hole.

Although her match wasn't decided until she parred the 18th hole, Miss Stacy never trailed in the match. The young Georgian, who is taking daily whirlpool treatments for an injured left hand, and Miss Pooley were even after 12 holes, but Hollis won the next two holes with pars.

Part-Timer in Buckeye LPGA Lead

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Mrs. Andy Fischer, a part-time member of the LPGA tour and the first pro to tee off Friday shot a 4-under-par 68 to take the first round lead in the $20,000 Buckeye Savings Invitational.

Mrs. Fischer, formerly Andy Cohen, has played in just three tournaments in the past three years but Friday posted five birdies, just one bogey and had nine one-pull greens to tie her best competitive round

ST. LOUIS, MO. (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals said Friday that third baseman Mike Shannon will be placed on the disabled roster for the rest of the season because of a recurring kidney ailment.

Team physician Dr. Stan London said the kidney condition has deteriorated and that treatment will be reinstituted.

"Several doctors — kidney specialists and myself — have decided that Mike must cut down on his physical activity," he said.

"He will miss the remainder of the 1970 baseball season and we do not know about the future. He will not be hospitalized and his condition is not critical."

Shannon said, "I was running a risk by playing,

"I guess I was fortunate to get in some baseball this year," he said. "I knew this situation was a possibility when I came back to the club."

"It sure is a disappointment, though," he said. "We were starting to play pretty good ball the last three weeks and starting to go someplace. I guess I was hitting about .280 the past few weeks."

New Quarterbacks Man Controls as NFL Steps Up Play

United Press International

A flock of new faces will be manning the quarterback controls for a good percentage of the teams in both the American and National Football Conference tonight as the National Football League enters into the second week of exhibitions.

Don Gault, Sam Wyche, Bon Naponic, Bill Cappleman, Marty Domres, Terry Bradshaw and Al Woodall are the young intruders who will be seeking to replace the Joe Kapps and Joe Namaths in the headlines.

In games scheduled for tonight, Cleveland will meet San Francisco at Tamps, New Orleans will be at Houston, San Diego will entertain the New York Giants, Atlanta and the New York Jets will clash at Winston Salem, N.C., Cincinnati will be at Miami, Minnesota will play host to Pittsburgh and St. Louis will invade Denver. Washington will play at Boston on Sunday and Oakland will be at Philadelphia on Monday.

The Cleveland Browns, who dealt away all-pro receiver Paul Warfield for the draft rights to Purdue quarterback Mike Phipps as insurance for Bill Nelsen, will get a long look at another signal-caller against San Francisco. Don Gault, a 1968 Hofstra University graduate and a member of the Browns' taxi squad last season, impressed last week with a 10-yard touchdown pass and a 40-yarder that set up another Brown TD in a 30-17 loss to the Rams.

Bob Naponic, another unheralded passer, was the only Houston quarterback to get any points on the scoreboard in the Oilers' 23-13 loss to Chicago last week. Naponic, a 10th-round draft pick from Illinois in 1968, is seeking to unseat newcomers Charley Johnson and Jerry Rhome at the Houston controls.

Ashe Schedules African Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arthur Ashe, star U.S. Negro tennis player, will travel to a half-dozen African countries this fall under State Department sponsorship.

He will go to Kenya, Tanzania, Zambia, Uganda, Nigeria and Ghana on the 16-day trip starting Oct. 20.

Kidney Ailment KO's Shannon for Season

ST. LOUIS, MO. (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals said Friday that third baseman Mike Shannon will be placed on the disabled roster for the rest of the season because of a recurring kidney ailment.

Team physician Dr. Stan London said the kidney condition has deteriorated and that treatment will be reinstituted.

"Several doctors — kidney specialists and myself — have decided that Mike must cut down on his physical activity," he said.

"He will miss the remainder of the 1970 baseball season and we do not know about the future. He will not be hospitalized and his condition is not critical."

Shannon said, "I was running a risk by playing,

"I guess I was fortunate to get in some baseball this year," he said. "I knew this situation was a possibility when I came back to the club."

"It sure is a disappointment, though," he said. "We were starting to play pretty good ball the last three weeks and starting to go someplace. I guess I was hitting about .280 the past few weeks."

COMPUTER CORNER

The ball game is over for a half-dozen teams in the two leagues. The fleet has sailed, the sun has set and the curtain is down until 1971 for Milwaukee, the Chicago Sox, Kansas City and San Diego. Their magic number is up. They are dead for the 1970 season.

The San Francisco Giants, Houston Astros, and Atlanta are in much the same sad shape. They must win 9 of 10 remaining games to threaten Cincinnati; the Dodgers must take nearly 8 of 10 to capture 105 wins, which is the likely number required to take the divisional title in the National League West. They have about as much chance as Morgana Roberts has of bussing Bowie Kuhn. And about the same desire.

Here are the Sports Computer's Univac figures showing the percentage of games each team must win over the next 10 weeks; and also the total strength for each team.

National League	% To Win 100	Total Strength	East	% To Win 100
West
Cincinnati	583	23%	New York	540	20%
Dodgers	762	23%	Chicago	503	11%
Atlanta	919	2%	Pittsburgh	525	6%
Houston	252	-5%	St. Louis	726	3%
San Francisco	972	-7%	Philadelphia	556	-20%
San Diego	OUT	-10%	Montreal	726	-12%
American League
West
Baltimore	612	24%	Baltimore	507	27%
Oakland	762	17%	Detroit	714	6%
Angels	708	16%	New York	558	5%
Kansas City	OUT	-17%	Boston	781	8%
W Milwaukee	OUT	-20%	Cleveland	835	5%
Chicago	OUT	-26%	Washington	873	-8%

To win a pennant a team must score 20 per cent more runs than they give up. This 'balance' between batting and pitching is a measure of a team's total strength—and though the Dodgers and Cincinnati are equal in total strength, having scored 23 per cent more runs than they have allowed, it is not likely that the Dodgers will play .762 ball for the remainder of the season.

The race is not over in the National League East. The Sports Computer's figures give the edge to the New York Mets, who are 20 per cent stronger this season on balance; Chicago is tabbed for second, scoring 11 per cent more runs than their pitchers allow; and Pittsburgh is coming in with a modest 6 per cent figure.

To win 88 games, the Mets must play .540 ball; Chicago must win at a .603 rate; the Pirates need only play .525 to cap 88 games.

Although Joe Pepitone can add significant power to the Cubs' lineup the Sports Computer gives the edge in this tight race to the Mets . . . and in October, 1970, champagne will flow again in Times Square.

CHANGING RULES?

Miller Lashes Out at Kuhn, Owners

NEW YORK (AP) — Marvin Miller, executive director of baseball's players assn., criticized commissioner Bowie Kuhn and other officials Friday for suggesting negotiations to modify the controversial reserve system when a contractual ban currently prohibits such talks.

"Speeches are one thing," said Miller, "a concrete coming forward is another. We cannot require the owners to negotiate. They can, however, voluntarily waive the contractual bar that exists. But it has to come from them, and it hasn't."

Miller's criticism of Kuhn and other baseball officials was made in light of their remarks following Wednesday's decision by Federal Court Judge Irving Ben Cooper upholding the legality of the sport's reserve system in the Curt Flood case.

Taking note of Judge Cooper's suggestion that any change in the set of rules that binds a player to the club that signs him until he is traded, sold or released should be made through player-owner negotiations, Kuhn commented:

"I have consistently maintained that the clubs and players can bargain out solution to any problems that arise. I share Judge Cooper's conclusion that any changes necessary in the reserve system can be achieved by bargaining."

McMurray Pitches L.B. Into Finals

Randy McMurray scattered three hits and Chris Kinder drove in three runs Friday afternoon to pace the Long Beach Police League Stars to a 9-0 win over Whittier in the Joe DiMaggio Regional Tournament at Blair Field.

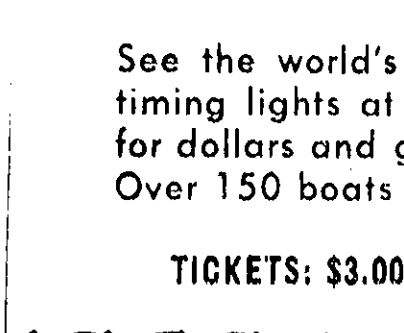

The unbeaten Stars are now assured a spot in Sunday night's finals at 8 in the double elimination tournament.

McMurray fanned five in the six inning game. Kinder had three hits, Russ Palmer, Pete Carrer and Steve Huntley two apiece for the winners.

Lures Top 3-Year-Olds

By DAVE DANIEL
Staff Writer

An Eskimo's delight — a nose-to-nose finish — is expected tonight in the $84,500 Los Alamitos Derby.

Which horse's nose hits the finish line first in the 440-yard dash is questionable, but Whataway To Go should have the most backing.

The 3-year-old filly captured the first division of the Derby Trials last week with a 21.95 effort and as the national champion of the 2-year-old set last year, figures as the one to beat.

But Buxom 2 duplicated Whataway To Go's 21.95

clocking in her division of the Trials, and while her record is somewhat less impressive, must be considered.

Helping to make it even tougher is Miss Three Wars, the second leading money winner in the nation at $129,992 last year as a two-year-old, and second to Buxom 2 in the Trials at 21.99.

Whataway To Go runs under the yellow and black colors of the Vessels Stallion Farm, which is located next door to the track under the auspices of track president Frank Vessels Jr.

The winner's share is worth $46,475. More than 15,000 fans are expected to see the clash for it.

Others entered are Rica's Gold, Marble Man, Red Chigger Bar, Shamrocket, Miss Brazos Bar, Ducrita, and Blondy Rockette.

The co-featured seventh race is the $12,000 Los Ninos Purse.

Bull Rastus, track record holder for 870 yards, was making his initial start in 11 months Friday night in the featured $4,000 Paper Mill Athletic Club Purse, and it took the fastest time of the meeting to beat him.

Khala Pro ran the Vessels Sr. course in 45.5 seconds, just one-tenth of a second off the track standard set last year by Bull Rastus.

At the wire Khala Pro was a neck in front of Bull Rastus, with Gabby's Boy finishing another four lengths back for third. The 9-5 favored Dawes Magic wound up fourth in the eight-horse field.

Dwayne Wells rode the winner for payoffs of $15, $6.40 and $3.80. Bull Rastus returned $4.80 and $3.40, while the show price on Gabby's Boy was $2.80.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Hydrangeas add their share of summer color in partial shade, or sun in some areas. They do not thrive in the desert sectors. They need deep drinks of water during their active spring and summer growing periods.

The plant name Hydrangea is from the Greek for water vessel.

Some gardeners prune hydrangeas in the winter season when the plants are leafless. Earlier pruning when the blossoms fade, encourages new growth which usually is the first to flower next year.

The pruning procedure is to cut back the branches to within two to three nodes (buds) above the previous year's cut. This year's nonflowering branches usually are not cut back. They are likely to be the ones to flower first next season. Sometimes, these extra long nonflowering branches need to be cut back and if so, cut them back to the bush shape outline.

Continue watering hydrangeas and give them the final feeding for this year.

The smaller dwarf form of hydrangeas furnish more color range from red, salmon pink, scarlet and white, and fit landscape uses where smaller shrubs are desired.

It is normal for a gardener to desire a weed-free lawn. This just isn't possible unless the gardener is constantly weeding it. The time-saving method is to use herbicides for specific weeds control.

Some turf fertilizers have certain herbicides, of which some are for weed control in grass lawns, others for weeds in dichondra lawns. One group of herbicides is post emergent. These herbicides control the live, growing weeds. Preemergent herbicides sterilize the weed seeds so they don't sprout and grow.

It's a fact that a thrifty lawn, fed periodically is less likely to become as weed infested as is a lawn that is undernourished.

A lawn should be fed at least every three months. Some gardeners fertilize the lawns oftener and use proportionately smaller amount of fertilizer.

Be watchful for cutworm infestation in an established dichondra lawn, and lawn moth worms in a young grass lawn. New grass lawns are likely to become lawn moth worm infested during the first two years.

The symptoms are easily detected. Wisps of olive green grass in patches of gradual browning or dead lawn, or small green patches of lawn in dead areas are symptoms of lawn moth worm infestation.

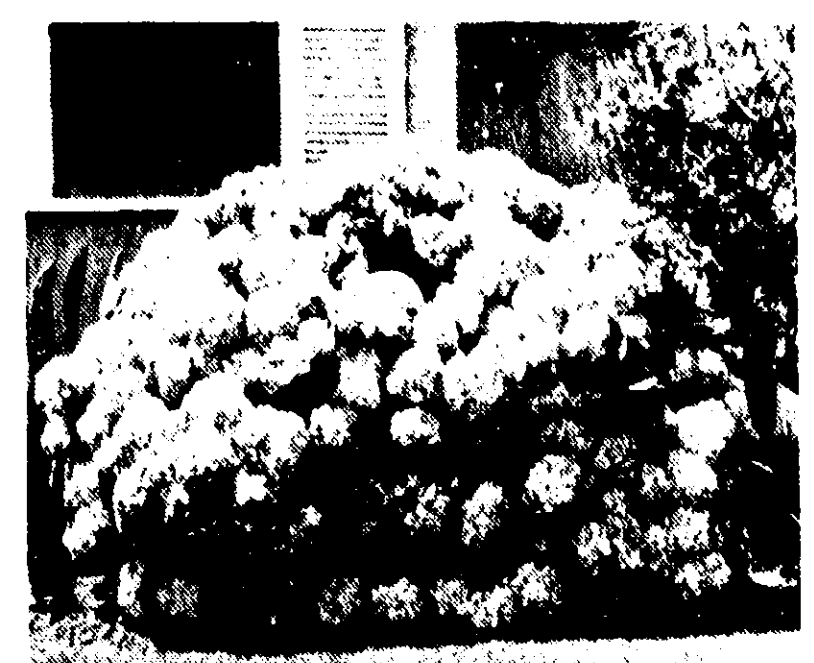

Cutworm damaged dichondra lawns have leafless areas. The green runner branches at the soil area still alive. Some have small patches with leaves gone. Leaf stems still show for a time before they too, are chewed off.

Such damage should be sprayed with a stomach-type insecticide spray.

Lawns which are pest damaged may be fed with a turf fertilizer containing stomach type insecticide. The insecticide controls such pests, and helps rejuvenate the damaged lawn.

Gardeners contemplating planting dichondra, hybrid bermuda, St. Augustine, or common bermuda, should plant as soon as possible so they'll benefit from the hot weather, grow fast, and become better established before the cold weather sets in. Such lawns planted in cold weather barely grow and during winter become dormant.

Ground covers, too, should be planted now, because they'll have about two months of hot weather to become better established before cold weather sets in.

HYDRANGEAS . . . 'Water Vessel'

JOBS TO DO NOW

Some gardeners fertilizer-burn their dichondra or grass lawn when applying the right amount of turf fertilizer.

To avoid this: FIRST, the lawn should be watered well. Day or so later feed it.

SECOND, before feeding it, walk over it. Look at the soles of your shoes. If there's dampness on them wait another hour or two before fertilizing.

THIRD, don't open the properly calibrated fertilizer spreader at the edge of the lawn before applying the fertilizer. Move back about 10 inches from the edge onto the walk or driveway, then gradually open the fertilizer spreader. By the time you begin feeding at the edge of the lawn, you are applying the fertilizer evenly. If you feed from a standing start at the edge of the lawn, you'll apply more fertilizer and it will burn the lawn. Don't stop suddenly in the middle of the lawn. Begin to close the fertilizer spreader about 10 inches before you come to a stop. After the lawn sprinklers have thoroughly watered the lawn, wash any remaining fertilizer off the leaves with sharp force of water spray through the garden hose.

Q. I recently garnered 95 seeds from my giant bird of paradise plant and would like to grow some new ones. How do I do it?

A. Write Dick Vreeken 4299 Lindblade Drive, Culver City, zip 90230. He's grown thousands of bird of paradise — the royal type, also the giant type.

Q. We recently moved into a new home and there is much garden work to be done. We came from Northern California, and aren't familiar with this climate for plants and flowers. Where could we find a garden book which deals with Southland conditions and tells us how to take care of our plants?

We are also interested in a parkway covering which would bloom and be durable. Lastly, what is a good evergreen tree to plant that gives good shade, not much leaf droppage (if any) and grows rapidly?

Mrs. D. R. S. Sr.
A. The nurseries advertised on this page have libraries of garden books for sale. My number one tree suggestion is a grafted, not seedling, Macadamia nut tree. It provides shade, a bit of color when it blooms, very expensive nuts usually costing around $3.00 to $3.50 per pound. But it is slow growing. The foliage is desirable as decorations indoors. Tree grows in a lawn if given deep periodic soakings. My next suggestion is Orchid tree Bauhinia purpurea, two-inch orchid-like light pink to orchid-purple flowers. It is evergreen except during blooming periods and grows to about 25 to 35 feet tall. There are two ground covers you might consider. My first recommendation is Sand verben, Verbena pulchella. Do not water often when it covers the ground. The next is prostrate rosemary, good if you'll keep it pruned back to within 18 inches of the ground. It is good as a condimental plant, too. Keep on dry side when it has covered the ground?

Q. What is the name of the plant the city planted on the dividing strip on Willow between Palo Verde and Woodruff area? It has pink and white flowers. Would it be appropriate for ground cover on the section of a lawn near the curb? What other cover would be good where the soil is very hard, and grass seems to die after a few months? Mrs. H. F.

A. Phone the Long Beach Park Department and ask landscape planner. Assuming you set out the plants properly by mixing some organic material with the soil in the plant holes, and water them when well established only as they need it. Minimal care shrubs that don't bloom but have foliage that looks as if frosted are Juniperus horizontalis 'Wiltoni', the Wilton carpet juniper. The low foliage is an intense silver-blue, a good ground cover and fine for bank plantings. It grows to about four inches high.

Week's Wall Street Trend

AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP)

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market went through a lethargic week. Aside from a few hearted ups and downs, prices and trading remained listless.

“Nothing really formed on Wall Street week. They opened doors, that's all. The m exciting thing every was the ringing of opening closing bel aid Monte Gordon, an ylst with Bache & Co.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks posted for the week a sharp drop to 710.84, unusual for the traditional end of the summer slump.

The market also dragged its feet in terms of volume. Turnover on the New York Stock Exchange was a mere 8.87 million shares, down from last week's volume of 10.57 million shares.

"The market is like a pendulum that has yet to swing its full course now," Gordon said.

"It has to finish downward swing before we can move the other way again."

According to Gordon, the market drifted all week and displayed a clear lack of either buying or selling interest. "It was seen to find a level that would provide the prospects for a healthy economy and for peace in both the Middle East," he commented.

Analysts said that toward the end of the week investors responded with skepticism to the government figures released on Thursday that indicated the slowdown may be bottoming out. "The economy may be on the way to recovery. But the market's low volume indicates basic investor skepticism and lack of real excitement," they said.

"There's a pall over investor optimism so because investors feel the problems of the economy are fully solved yet. Liquidity and earnings drops are still a problem with individual companies. Generally investors expect the economic decline to still become larger and must be watched carefully," Gordon said.

High price-earnings glamor stocks like took the biggest drub this week. Analysts this attack on glam arose from their downward earnings trend investor doubts as to ability to regain former growth ability.

TV Industry Going to Pot

By TERRY VERNON

Some viewers have long claimed that television is going to pot.

Now the industry is coming out against it—pot and other drugs—as a score of prime-time series, even including comedies, feature dramas warning about the dangers of being hooked.

Dope addiction has long played an important part in the daytime serials which are filled with every form of suffering known to man—and woman.

ABC's soap opera, "One Life to Live," even took cameramen to a therapy session at Odyssey House, a drug rehabilitation center in New York, where one of the series' young regulars agreed to take part in the self-help program.

BUT THE concentration in prime-time entertainment programs is something new, and possibly even suggests a danger of saturation.

CBS' "Hawaii Five-O" may open its season with such an episode, "Funky Junky Blues" with guest Nancy Wilson.

And NBC's "Name of the Game" will launch the fall series Sept. 18 with "So Long Baby, and Amen," dealing with a Senate subcommittee hearing on narcotics and a young girl who is ruining her life with drugs.

Presidential advisor Robert Finch will appear as himself in a scene welcoming the nation's leading newsmen to a symposium on the juvenile drug problem.

"IRONSIDES" will present "The Happy Dreams of Hollow Men," story of a successful construction engineer who has become a drug addict and finds himself stranded for a week-end in a mountain cabin without a supply of narcotics.

"God Bless the Children," a World Premiere film, deals with a former drug addict who works with teen-agers in an effort to dissuade them from using drugs.

In a later "Psychiatrist" episode, as part of Wednesday's new "Four-in-One" NBC series, an ex-addict backslides in his efforts to get off drugs, and is placed on methadone, a controversial synthetic drug.

An early segment of Andy Griffith's new "Headmaster" series deals with drugs on the campus, and the Governor (of "J. J.") will campaign for re-election using warnings against drug abuse as part of his campaign.

OTHER SERIES planning stories about drug dangers are "Medical Center," "The Interns," "Mission: Impossible," "Mannix" and "Storefront Lawyers" on CBS.

And ABC will utilize drug addiction in episodes of "The FBI," "The Young Lawyers," "Mod Squad," "Marcus Welby," "Dan August" and "Matt Lincoln".

It will be quite a trip.

AN NBC White Paper on Youth and Drugs, set for Monday, Aug. 24, at 8 p.m., will include a case study of a teen-ager former addict from a suburban community, an investigation of methods used in the ghetto to combat drug problems there, and a report on groups in Phoenix trying to reverse the life style of the more than 50 per cent of the school children there who are drug users.

And interview guest on tomorrow's "Meet the Press," at 1 p.m. on NBC, is John E. Ingersoll, the director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, appointed by President Johnson and retained by President Nixon.

'Hee Haw' Cornball—and Proud

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "We're cornball and proud of it," say the producers of "Hee Haw."

They'd be trifling with the truth if they said anything else.

Bill Davis and Sam Lovullo have tried and succeeded in reaching middle America with their country music, hick jokes and hayseed stars.

"Hee Haw" is, an unqualified hit in the sticks but something less than a smash in the insular islands of New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco and other bastions of sophistication.

Sophistication is a something at best on television, and Davis-Lovullo know precisely what they're doing.

OUR URBAN society may rate "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" higher in the Nielsen ratings, but except on "Hee Haw" where can viewers see Junior Samples, Stringbean, Minnie Pearl, Grandpa Jones, Lulu Roman, Claude Phelps, Gunilla Hutton, Gordie Tapp and Beauregard, the wonder dog?

"Our show is nonviolent and non-controversial," said Lovullo. "Sooner or later you want to have a little peace and quiet on TV."

"We have a lot more music than 'Laugh-In,'" Davis added. "There is about 40 per cent music and 60 per cent comedy. Our ratings may be low in some of the big cities, but around the country we're big."

"In places like Houston, Tulsa, Atlanta and rural America we're the most popular show on the air."

While the finished product gives the appearance of a spontaneous hoedown, it is a slickly produced show which is becoming increasingly computerized.

"ALL THE jokes, songs, combinations of sketches and characters are fed into a computer," Davis explained. "This way we can splice the show with 200 cuts and not worry about being repetitive."

Lovullo explained further: "We go to Nashville (where the show is taped) with stacks of material labeled 'cornfield,' 'barber shop,' 'hay stack,' 'board fence' and the like.

"Then we shoot enough material for 15 shows with, say, 182 cornfield jokes, and as many others in the various departments."

Davis picked up the dialogue. "After we've taped the material we feed the facts into a computer which tells us what reel each gag is on, the day we shot, the video tape number, the punchline and who the performer was.

"THE COMPUTER also tells us how we rated the gag on its funniness which we predetermined on a scale of 1-5."

"Next," said Lovullo, "is to feed the computer what we want and have it put a show together for us."

Davis grinned broadly, even the city slickers don't put a show together by computer. He said, "When someone says we're cornball, we thank them. That's what we set out to be."

HARBOR CHEVROLET

Bruce Kerr tells of the young man of 21 who wanted to get married desperately, but his mother rejected every prospective daughter-in-law because she secretly had the fixation that her son's wife should be an extremely close facsimile of herself.

Finally, after many, many young ladies were turned away by the mother of the prospective bridegroom, he one day introduced her to a girl who resembled her a great deal. spoke with the same Bostonian accent, was of the same educational background and shared identical interests!

However, the wedding never did come off, 'cuz you see — this time it was the FATHER who couldn't stand her!!

Japanese Tourists Leave 'em Fuming

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese who tour abroad may be a quaint lot, it appears, but they have troubles of their own.

The Transport Ministry released this week a series of complaints that have been lodged against people who go abroad.

Items: —Japanese tourists urinated in public—a not-uncommon event in Japan—while visiting Hawaii, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

—Some bathed Japanese-style—outside the tub—in a Honolulu hotel, flooding three adjoining and downstairs room which had to be closed 10 days.

—Others shocked bystanders by opening their trousers to reach for pocketbooks in old-fashioned belly-bands, called "harmaki," somewhat like Western money-belts.

—A construction company group riding in a German train horrified passengers by cooking noodles in a tin can.

Some took prostitutes into first-class hotels in Taipei.

—Japanese men push ladies aside in stampeding into trains, taxis or elevators.

The ministry says it is going to take steps to correct these situations.

But if the Japanese have been quaint in London, for example, the natives don't seem to have behaved much better, according to the ministry. In the British capital Japanese were turned away from hotels when disputes arose over bookings—the ministry suggested racial discrimination.

SMOG REPORT

The Air Pollution Control District predicts light smog today in most sections of the Los Angeles Basin. The APCD indicated, however, smog will be moderate in the San Gabriel, Pomona and Walnut valleys while northern coastal areas may be pollution-free.

Smog forecasters issued the following prediction for atmospheric conditions:

OZONE—Maximum levels of .25 to .30 parts per million in the San Gabriel, Pomona and Walnut valleys; .20 parts per million in the southeast section of the county; and .15 parts per million elsewhere.

VISIBILITY—Restricted to about 2 1/2 miles in the interior, but as much as three to four miles along the coast.

The Riverside County Air Pollution Control District predicted light smog today in the west and central portions of the county.
